WE NOMINATE

Wilbert Ellis Moore, an unusual combination of commuter, scholar-teacher, "philanthrapoid" and pragmatist, who has recently succeeded in re-organizing, and making more articulate, the 10,000-member American Sociological Association. Possibly as well as any living American sociologist, this about-to-be-52-year-old native of Western Washington's Olympic Peninsula — upon relinquishing the presidency of a distinguished professional society — recognizes that scholars and laymen alike must be sensitive to the changing social structure of these United States and must try to anticipate future developments in such closely intertwined fields as industrial sociology, demography and economic development.

As a "philanthrapoid" with New York's Russell Sage Foundation, which he joined in 1964 upon resigning his Princeton University professorship, Moore is involved not only in advanced research but also in the Foundation's program of introducing the social sciences in law schools, as it has done with marked success in medical schools. He is also deeply involved in the promotion of improved "social indicators" for the measurement of trends in social change, and especially those trends bearing upon social policy. Here in the University, with which he is still affiliated as Visiting Professor with the rank of Professor, he continues to teach the latest developments in sociological theory.

The author of a dozen volumes and some 100 technical articles, Moore moves with equal dexterity in the worlds of private and public affairs. He has been a consultant for a number of corporations, including Equitable Life Assurance, General Electric, International Business Machines, and American Telephone and Telegraph, and has also been associated with the United Nations, UNESCO and the Peace Corps. His most widely translated work, and one of his shortest, "Social Change," appears in seven different languages and is reportedly freely displayed in East Germany — a phenomenon leading Moore to believe that his field may "truly be international."

Moore, the product of a two-room school in rural Hunter's Prairie, Wash., whirled through Oregon's Linfield College, received master's degrees at both the University of Oregon and Harvard, and earned his Harvard doctoral in 1939. He taught initially at Harvard and Pennsylvania State University and joined the Princeton Faculty 23 years ago, first as a research associate in the Office of Population Research and, subsequently, as a founding member of the up-and-coming Department of Sociology. In 1951 — at the time he was shaping an Organizational Behavior Project under the auspices of The Ford Foundation and at age 37 — he was advanced to the rank of full professor.

"Something of an elder statesman," Moore, a full-time Princeton resident with part-time academic commitments, continues to play a key role in scholarly societies. For instance, he is chairman of the membership committee for the social sciences of the American Philosophical Society, the nation's blue-ribbon learned society, and is very much aware of the deliberations of such influential bodies as the Social Science Research Council, the Paris-based International Social Science Research Council and the Italian-American Bi-National Commission on the Social Sciences. His plans for the immediate future embrace at least two major publications, one on trusteeship and the other on the professions in modern society.

For bringing to the "groves of academe" the understanding of the often-harassed Princeton-New York commuter; for identifying himself with Princeton organizations as well as with global interests; for feeling as much at home on the "P.J.&B." as he does in scholarly conferences in New Delhi or Bogota; he is our nominee as

WELL MET FOR BEAUTY

A brook bisects 1½ acres of woods, lawns and terraced planting on one of the loveliest and most self-contained lots in Princeton Township. The sense of a world apart is further enhanced by the small playhouse, the paved bridge and the wide, vine wreathed patio overlooking the stream. Indoors the unique character of this property has been enriched by the skill and taste of its architect owner. Details of paneling, flooring, room arrangement and remodeling, all reflect knowledge and imagination as rare as the tree shielded privacy that surrounds it.

If you are searching for something more than the standard suburban house on the standard suburban lot, you must see this one.

BY-PASS?

Well, Roads, Anyway. Princeton's anxiously awaited by-pass — Route 92-A — and some changes in the Township road map occupied municipal officials this week.

In fact, the by-pass has taken a new turn which may possibly bring it a little bit closer to reality and all those trucks a little bit farther away.

William Sloan, Somerset County planner, unfolded a map before members of the Princeton Township Planning Board last Wednesday, showing a new 92-A alignment which he worked on all summer.

Mr. Sloan has decided to show his alignment to every municipality affected by the by-pass' route, hoping for a unanimous "yes" which he can take to the state highway department.

TURN HERE: A safer intersection at Bayard-Mountain-206 has been designed by Township Engineer Frank Quinby and incorporated into the new road Master Plan. Bayard Lane would be closed at Mountain Avenue. The jug-handle would allow cars to exit from Community Park to Route 206, as shown. More about such road plans in "This Is Princeton."

"We are far from being enthusiastic about the route," says Hans K. Sander, chairman of the Township Planning Board, "but we'll probably back it, because frankly, what else can we do?"

The Way It Goes. The new route goes south of Rocky Hill. The former alignment, proposed at a public hearing in Dayton in the spring of 1962, goes north of Rocky Hill; in fact, the new one, in Mr. Sander's words, "straddles the Township-Rocky Hill dividing line."

It breaks away from the present Route 206 south of Kammler Buick and goes east, crossing Rocky Hill's Princeton Avenue and paralleling the Mercer-Somerset county line, but within Mercer County, about 1,500 feet north of Herrontown Road and Autumn Hill Drive.

Then it swings somewhat north, back into Somerset County, crossing the Millstone and the canal and Laurel Road in Kingston, connecting with the 1962 proposal about 500 feet north of Route 27.

It by-passes Kingston Trap Rock's old quarry and new quarry, going about half a mile south of each. The 1962 alignment bi-sected the new quarry.

That 1962 alignment, as Mr. Sander remarks gloomily, is now full of houses. He suggests that, if the various municipalities and the state keep delaying, the entire area will be so full of houses that no by-pass can possibly be built.

Meantime, the Township Planning Board has its own roads to plan. The Board's Road Sub-Committee has prepared and the parent Board approved, a new master plan for road development, revising the 1961 map.

When? Not Immediately. Anticipating the question, the Planning Board announced in its report that it's not planning immediately to start "a vigorous road-building campaign to install the roads as shown on this plan. . . ."

In short, the roads won't be ready for traffic tomorrow; however, at least one of them — the Mountain Avenue jug-handle — has already been designed by the Township engineer, Frank Quinby.

The plan's basic feature is a loop road around the Borough. This "C" road has been modified to join Route 27 via River Road. The Board plans to urge state highway officials to re-do the dangerous Kingston Bridge on Route 27 and at the same time, design the "C" road connection with Route 27.

The Board also projects a new bridge over Stony Brook as part of the "C" Road in the southwestern part of the Township. "The existing bridge is a terrible traffic hazard," the report confirms.

Terhune Road is part of this circumferential Road. The Board has drawn an intersection of Terhune with Route 206 which eliminates a piece of Valley Road.—Under the proposal, Valley Road would end at Witherspoon Street, thereby creating a continuous "municipal area" between the Township Hall and the Township garage.

Motorists would drive west on Terhune, and cross Mt. Lucas on a new strip of road immediately behind the Town-

Public Hearing Set

The Township's new master plan will be the subject of public discussion next Tuesday at 8 in Township Hall.

It concerns such matters as the continuation of Terhune, the elimination of a segment of Valley Road, a jug-handle solution to the Bayard Lane-Mountain Avenue-206 intersection, the future of Princeton's two lethal bridges (Kingston and Stony Brook), the future of Springdale Road and the addition of Faculty as an east-west link between Harrison and Alexander.

ship Garage. Eventually, Ternhune will go straight across Route 206 and swing along the northern boundary of Community Park.

In the new plan, Springdale Road is classified as a "major collector", that is, a two-lane roadway at least 24-36 feet wide, bearing a weekly traffic count of 16-24,000 cars per week by the year 1980.

A road from Alexander to the western part of Borough and Township "must be provided" says the report, so that Nassau and Alexander can be relieved of traffic that must now pass through these streets to get from the west-ern section to Route One."

Township planners added, in the Springdale context, that they had talked with Borough Planning Board members about the proposed road connecting Springdale with Elm through Marquand Park The Township's estimate of the Borough's position is — there is only "a slim chance" that such a road will ever be built.

But the Township Road Sub-Committee feels that Springdale must be expanded to serve the University's new married-student housing project on lower Springdale.

Other proposals

● Faculty Road has been called as a "minor collector" — an important east-west link between Harrison and Alexander. On the map, at least, it has also been extended to Springdale in case the University ever develops the golf course.

● Harrison, Alexander and Washington are now "arterial highways". "Plans should be made so these streets can be widened in the future," the Sub-Committee believes.

● To accommodate such a widening of Harrison, the map now shows a small road running behind the houses on the west side of South Harrison. Residents of these houses would use the new road as access to their homes, if South Harrison is ever widened.

In blocking out their road master plan, Township Planning Board members worked closely with the Borough Planning Board and also showed their plans to the West Windsor Planning Board Work has been in progress on the plan since April.

Members of the Road Sub-Committee of the Township Planning Board are Harold Erdman, Robert Wright, Mc Sander and Mr. Quigby, the Township Engineer.

LIQUOR FOR RENWICK'S?

License Transfer Asked. Harold Ostroff, owner of Renwick's, has asked the Borough again for permission to serve liquor in his restaurant. In 1959, he applied for the license that Borough Council granted to King's Court.

Renwick has made formal application for the liquor license now held by the OK Bar on Lytle Street. Mrs. Teresa Nini, 17 Maclean, is the owner.

The chief problem seems to be Renwick's nearness to the First Presbyterian Church, according to Mayor Henry S. Patterson. Alcoholic Beverage Control regulations specify a distance of 200 feet between the place serving the liquor and any church or school.

Measured from Renwick's front entrance to the church walkway, the distance is less than 200, Mayor Patterson said, and measured to the church's front door, it is more.

The request will come before Mayor and Council on Wednesday, November 9.

INGATHERING PLANNED

By Needlework Guild. The Princeton Branch of the Needlework Guild will hold its 73rd annual "Ingathering" on Tuesday from 9 to 1 at the First Presbyterian Church.

The Needlework Guild is a nation-wide charity organization which collects clothing and linen and distributes them to people in need through welfare agencies. Individuals participate by contributing two or more articles of clothing or linen a year. Those wishing to join the Guild should call Mrs. Joseph R. Nini, 924-3285, president of the Princeton Branch and member of the national board of directors.

The Princeton branch was organized in 1895 by Mrs. C. Wistar Hodge. Her daughter, Miss S. M. Hodge of 16 Boudinot Street, is still an active member.

GOODBYE, JACKSON

Hello Wiggins. Jackson Street is no more. Or almost. Borough Council introduced an ordinance Tuesday night changing its name to Wiggins.

After the public hearing on Wednesday, November 9, the street between Witherspoon and the new Chambers Street Extended, will be called Wiggins.

"Thomas Wiggins," intoned Councilman Alfred P. Sorensen, "was a Yale man."

A physician, who came to town before 1762, Dr. Wiggins had a home where the new public library now stands. He was a charter fireman, said Mr. Sorensen, an elder of First Presbyterian Church and a treasurer of the College of New Jersey.

"Who," asked Councilman Ellwood P. Godfrey, "was Jackson?"

Lights. Looking ahead, Council introduced an ordinance reversing the Hamilton-Moore intersection to make Hamilton the "through" street. Signs will not be changed until the traffic light has been installed at Witherspoon and Wiggins.

A traffic signal may one day light the Elm-Rosedale intersection. The county has informed the Borough that it is making a traffic count, and when the state gives its OK, the Borough will be the first to know.

Council decided not to endorse the Assunpink area of West Windsor as the location for the new Mercer County Community College. The vote was 2-0, four of the six Councilmen abstaining. Messrs. Godfrey and Sorensen voted "yes."

"I feel we are not adequately informed," Mr. Strayer said.

Council has been asking Princeton's education experts for advice on the Assunpink location but hasn't obtained definitive opinions. Mayor Henry S. Patterson said.

He added, that although he leaned toward Assunpink himself, he felt that Trenton might be the best location because the city could then obtain needed Federal urban renewal funds.

"Princeton owes something to Trenton," the mayor observed.

Administrator Robert F. Mooney was asked to find "pro" and "con" men on the Assunpink question and bring them before Council.

Questioned persistently by Martin F. Lombardo, 329 Nassau, Councilmen and mayor discussed again Princeton's juveniles. Mr. Lombardo urged formation of a youth committee, and Councilman William H. Walker said the matter had been discussed.

Mayor Patterson, warning that such a committee would "not be a cure-all and might overlap existing agencies, repeated what he has said in the past: that the juvenile problem is not confined to one social or economic level, that the police in any given area won't solve the problem, but all segments of the community working together may solve it."

SEN. SMITH IN HOSPITAL

Suffers Stroke. Former United States Senator H. Alexander Smith, 87, remains in critical condition in the intensive care unit of Princeton Hospital. He suffered a stroke on Saturday at his home, 81 Alexander Street.

Senator Smith served from 1944 to 1959 in the United States Senate. He has been a national Republican figure since 1924.

Borough. The two Republican candidates for Borough Council, Fred Blaicher and Charles Cornforth, proposed this week a Municipal Youth Guidance Council to make over-all policy in regard to juveniles, to plan special events and to co-ordinate the work of other organizations concerned with young people.

diverse people and agencies who now deal with small segments of the problem," the candidates say.

They propose that the Council be the co-ordinating agent for P.T.A., Child Guidance Clinic, Family Service Agency, churches, schools and parents.

They point out that such a Council could be a joint Borough-Township function. In Teaneck Mr. Cornforth and Mr. Blaesher say the number of delinquency cases has been held to the same proportion of the population since 1959 as a result of a Youth Council. The Council's cost, the candidates say, is about $1,400 a year.

Both candidates support a full-time juvenile worker, whether police officer or social worker.

POLICE PAY BACKED

By Democrats in Township. In the Township, Democrats this week came out in favor of the referendum for police salary increases.

The candidates, Mrs. Geraldine Boone and George Goldsmith, also express "disappointment in the way that the Township Committee has handled its relations with its police department."

In an open letter to Township Committee, the two candidates suggest that because all Township Committeemen belong to the same political party, "they tend to be responsive to one segment of the Township population more than to others. There is no one on the present Committee to challenge a decision, and to encourage a point of view that includes everyone who works or lives in the Township."

"We deplore," the letter continues, "the breakdown in communication between Township Committee and the police force," and the Democrats promise, if elected, "to provide regularly scheduled opportunities to give Township residents direct access to their elected officials."

Mrs. Boone and Mr. Goldsmith state their belief that salary raises should be decided upon only after careful examination of each request, but they also express their hope that the police force can be adequately paid so that it need not rely on "moonlighting."

They emphasize that the open letter was written on their own initiative, and was not solicited from them by the police.

Republican candidates David Thompson and John Wallace re - emphasize Committee's "hold-the-line" policy on municipal taxes, pointing out that the Township's local tax rate is a penny less, per $100 of assessed valuation, than it was five years ago.

"We unreservedly commit ourselves to the protection of the interests of the local taxpayer, whether he owns or rents," the candidates said.

"There is no more direct and practical way to make it possible for families of limited income to live in Princeton Township and enjoy its advantages, than to work unceasingly to keep the tax rate down through sensible economies, while still broadening and strengthening necessary municipal services," Mr. Wallace and Mr. Thompson state.

The two Republicans point to Community Park's swimming pools, playing fields, tennis courts, to the extension of sewer lines, the Township's share of the new library, improvements to Township Hall and the addition of a second municipal building as achievements attained within the "favorable tax record."

"The Township Police Department has added men and equipment each year and a full-time juvenile officer has been designated. Annual salary increases have been provided for Township employees at all levels," the statement says.

PEACE GROUP TO MEET

To Discuss Programs. The Princeton Group to End the War in Vietnam will hold a public meeting next Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. at Witherspoon Presbyterian Church. The autonomous committees which make up the group will exchange ideas on Vietnam and discuss their programs.

The Political Action Committee, headed by Mrs. Ann Ryan, directed the campaign of peace candidate David Frost in the Democratic senatorial primary. Although Mr. Frost was defeated, he carried both Princeton Borough and the Township by wide margins.

The Bulletin Board Committee under Mrs. Roger Maren has been distributing anti-war literature from the Group's display at Nassau and Witherspoon Streets. Another committee headed by Clarence DuDonte, is urging Princeton clergymen to adopt a religious position against the war.

A committee chaired by Ralph Heyman is arranging delegations to visit New Jersey Congressmen and is also organizing a house-to-house canvass. A group of veterans opposed to the war, including Benedict Yedlin and Mrs Cornelier Borgerhoff, is also participating in the Group's activities.

Beauty ON THE SQUARE

By Archimedes (Berard)

This week, I would like to explain some facts about hair that I think will prove very interesting to you.

From the time a hair appears on a man's scalp, it will normally stay with him about two to six years — a woman's for a longer period — before a new hair growing beneath it, pushes it out, rather like the process of a child's permanent tooth pushing out the baby tooth beneath.

Women's hair is softer and easier to manage than men's, because it frequently lacks the medulla, the center of the hair's three layers.

When scalp hair reaches ten inches in length, its further growth slows down to half its previous rate. Hair grows fastest on young women between the ages of 15 to 25.

Hair is believed to grow more rapidly in the summer especially in June and July. Also, there is a slight increase in growth at night.

For the best professional hair care, visit TAVERNWOOD BEAUTY MANOR, 69 Palmer Square West, or call 924-3983. We know all about your hair!

CRASH KILLS FIVE

Four from Pennington, Twenty-three persons in New Jersey were killed in traffic accidents last weekend—five of them in a two-car, headon collision on Hunterdon County's Route 518. Four of the victims were from Pennington.

Killed were Ernest Wargo, 24 of Wargo Road, Pennington, driver of a compact car; his passenger, Mrs. Beatrice Vandewater, 127 West Franklin Avenue, Pennington, the mother of six children, and three persons in another car.

They are Dale Hildebrand, 20, of Marshall's Corner, Pennington, the driver; Marine private John Seitz, 20, of Stony Brook Road, Pennington, and Richard G. McCauley, 20, of Chicago, a Navy "buddy" of Hildebrand. Two other passengers in the car survived the accident.

They are Miss Geraldine Suro, 22, of Orchard Avenue, Pennington, and Paul VanNoy, 19, 38 River Drive, Titusville. Miss Suro, owner of the car that Mr. Hildebrand was reportedly driving, was taken to Trenton's Mercer Hospital in critical condition suffering from internal injuries and injuries to the head, leg and arm. She is employed as a checker at the Shop-Rite Market at the Pennington Circle on Route 69.

Mr. Vannoy was taken to the Hunterdon Medical Center outside Flemington, His condition was described as satisfactory.

State Police from the Flemington Barracks, who investigated, report that the Hildebrand car, apparently being driven at a high rate of speed, ran off a curve and struck the Wargo car headon. The latter was crumpled along the left side and hurled into a ditch.

Rabies Clinics Set

The boards of health of the Township and the Borough will operate free rabies clinics next week at various locations. A Township ordinance requires that dogs be inoculated against the disease within six months preceding the date of application for a dog license.

The clinics will be open from 4 to 6 at the following locations: on Monday at the rear of Borough Hall, on Tuesday at the Township garage, next Wednesday at the Chestnut Street Firehouse, next Thursday at the Township garage, and next Friday, October 21, at the Borough garage.

The crash occured at five minutes after midnight Friday in front of the "Move-Ridge Farm" on Route 518. All were pronounced dead at the Medical Center with the exception of Mr. Seitz who died Saturday morning at 7:55 in Mercer Hospital.

Private Seitz was buried in Arlington National Cemetery following a service at the Orland's Ewing Memorial Chapel in Pennington. Mr. Wargo was buried in Harbourton Cemetery after a service at the Blackwell Memorial Home Pennington.

A service for Mr. Hildebrand was held at the Cromwell Memorial Home in Hopewell. Interment was in the Friends Burial Ground, Bellington, Pa. A private service for Mrs. Vandewater was held at the Cromwell Home.

SEVEN ARE FINED

In Traffic Court, Seven Princeton area drivers were fined Monday by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr.

John F. Terrault Jr., 32, Poor Farm Road, Pennington, and John W. Wyckoff, 23, 72 Model Avenue, Hopewell, were fined $28 and $20 respectively for speeding. A U-turn violation cost Fred Johnson, 61, 178 Birch Avenue, $12.

Fined $15 each for careless driving were Charles H. Vannuys, 61, Griggstown Road, Belle Mead; Mrs. Agnes V. Bullock, 34, Alexander Road; and Charles Tormey, 52, Clarksville Road. In addition, Mrs. Bullock's license was suspended, pending the outcome of a re-examination by the Motor Vehicle Department. Mr. Tormey also paid $10 as an unlicensed driver.

Graham Good, 23, 400-B Butler Avenue, was fined $10 for improper display of plates. In another case, Joseph F. O'Neill, 31, U.S. Route 1, pleaded guilty to charges of drunken driving and no license in possession. However, Magistrate Tams deferred sentencing for two weeks because of the hardship it would impose on Mr. O'Neill's business.

In criminal court, Stewart

REALTY FIRM ENTERED

Safe Opening Fails. A safe proved to be much harder to enter Saturday than the basement office of Edmund Cook & Company, real estate and insurance firm at 190 Nassau Street.

William Karch, vice-president of the firm, called police to report that a screen had been removed over the weekend and a basement window forced to enter a lower level office. Inside, the intruder had tried to remove the hinges and break the combination lock of a four-by-four-foot safe. He was unsuccessful.

After breaking into a small metal petty cash box, the burglar went to the second floor and forced the door of a Prudential Insurance office. He proceded to ransack all the desks. A later report from both Cook and Prudential revealed that nothing had been taken, police said.

John G. Peck Jr., 205 Dana Street, called police last week to report three of his suits, two sport jackets and oher clothing which he valued at $150 were stolen from his car. He sdded the theft occurred while his car was parked either on Willow Street or Cedar Lane.

The manager of the Nassau Inn, William G. Bohm, reported to police that two guests had had their wallets stolen from their rooms. One reported losing $25, the second, $60.

TWO HURT, CAR TOTAL

Kingston Bridge Hit. The Kingston bridge was struck again at 12:50 Sunday morning when Edward T. Dennis, Jr., 24, of Bethlehem, Pa. failed to make the sharp curve approaching the bridge. His 1958 convertible crossed the center line and rammed against the opposite wall, damaging its entire left side and windshield. Police labeled the car a total loss.

Mr. Dennis was treated at Princeton Hospital for contusions of the left thigh and ankle. His passenger, Norma Faulkner, 24, 123 John Street, received contusions of the ribs and a sprained left knee.

Twp. Patrolman Olindo Carnevale ticketed Mr. Dennis for failing to keep right.

Thomas Tormey, 52, Clarksville Road, was charged with careless driving by Borough Sgt. Arthur Gallant after he struck two parked cars Monday morning while driving on N. Harrison Street.

The entire right aide of the Tormey car was damaged as it hit the left rear of a parked utility truck operated by Joseph J. Meyers, 34, of Toms River. The impact forced the truck into a parked car owned by James Youngberg, 37, of Trenton; it also struck a house trailer parked on the shoulder of the roadway but damage to the trailer was slight.

Mrs. Kathleen Tormey, 52, was released from Princeton Hospital after being treated for multiple abrasions of the right arm, knee and ribs. Mr. Meyers sustained abrasions of both knees and elbows and complained of a pain in his back.

Sgt. Gallant reported that Mr. Tormey had misjudged his clearance while attempting to pass the parked truck. He also

Old Lawrenceville
— is more than a documented historical reference book about the village formerly named MAIDENHEAD. It is entertaining reading.

It not only tells about and illustrates 57 Early Colonial houses, but also is rich in authentic anecdotal material about colorful people and episodes — the Towne Lot, the Vigilantes, post office robberies, early history of The Lawrenceville School, the Church, "Meadow Mice" in the Old Quarry, the Silk Worm Delusion, colorful Jennie Phillips, the Green Family and many others named in the border.

A mine of facts, and hours of diversion for both new and old residents of the area, genealogists, and historical societies.

$5.95 at the Univ. Book Store, Book Mart, and The Jigger Shop at Lawrenceville. Autographed copies available from the author Donald H. Tyler, Box 265, T.T., Lawrenceville, N. J. $6.25, post paid.

TO MARK 88TH YEAR

With Birthday Sale. Eighty-eight years of retail merchandising will be celebrated this week at the Nevius-Voorhees Department Store in Trenton and at its Princeton Store at 194 Nassau Street. The chain's 88th Birthday Sale will run for a week beginning this Thursday.

The retail firm has remained under one-family management since 1878, when the first store was founded in Flemington by Jacob and Austin Nevius. Branches in Trenton and New Brunswick were added, and two years ago the Princeton store was opened.

The Trenton store is the largest of the chain. It was known as Nevius Brothers until it bought the former H. M. Voorhees Brothers store in 1939.

ANY GOOD RUMMAGE?

Donations Sought. The Hadassah, the Women's Division of the Jewish Center, and B'nai B'rith are planning a rummage sale to be held at 15 Spring Street next Monday and Tuesday from 9 to 5 and next Wednesday from 9 to 3.

Clothes, household items, jewelry, toys, curtains, kitchenware, linen and small items are needed for the sale. The groups are also looking for assistants to work at the sale.

Those wishing to volunteer or make donations should call Lillian Bricks of the Women's Division, 924-2853, or Mrs. Harold L. Loew of Hadassah, 924-6602.

COFFEE, ANYONE?

Meetings Planned. Three coffee-hours have been scheduled in the Township for the two Democratic candidates for Township Committee, Mrs. Geraldine Boone and George Goldsmith.

Voters may meet the candidates this Thursday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. James F. Graves, 288 Stockton Road; next Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. R. Morton Darrow, 137 Hickory Court and next Wednesday, October 19 at 8 p.m. at the home of A. Richard Turner, 131 Laurel Road. Mrs. James C. Stretch is co-sponsor with Mr. Turner.

MUNICH DISPLEASES

In Chamber Concert, The Munich Chamber Orchestra, under its conductor Hans Stadlmair, inaugurated the first of five Series H concerts Monday night at McCarter for the 1966-67 season.

The orchestra consisting of fifteen strings plus harpsichord continuo, produced a pleasant enough sound although more contrast in tone color and some greater involvement with the musical substance at hand would have contributed to a more stimulating evening.

Unfortunately the program itself lacked much in the way of musical substance. The first two compositions were originally created as string quartets. The Divertimento in F by Haydn is an early work (Opus 3 NO. 5) and its fame today rests on its lovely second movement which is usually reserved for encores at the end of a concert of chamber music. The remaining three movements offer little to the enhancement of Haydn's catalogue of masterpieces.

Other Music Reviews On Pages 30 and 32

The "Italian Serenade" by Hugo Wolf a composer noted more for his adventures into the avenue of the art song than that of chamber music, is a delightful little gem, lasting no more than ten minutes, its light hearted, but beautifully woven contrapuntal texture and engaging harmonic progressions, ending not a moment too soon. One can take just so much of the jogging rhythmic patterns that Wolf establishes at the onset of the work and maintains to the end. This composition received the best performance of the evening.

The work that followed, a Concerto for Violin and Strings by Mendelssohn, was a most unhappy choice. The music was resurrected from the archives of Mendelssohn's 13th year and it shows the hand of every musical pedant who crossed the impressionable young composer's path in those early years.

Lukas David, performed the solo violin part ably, with a tender, relaxed, sweet tone. Perhaps he was a bit too relaxed for there was not much vitality to his playing. Yet one could not say that his performance was unattractive. The music was simply dull.

Following intermission, the ensemble performed its conductor's own Toccata for String Orchestra, a rhetorical scherzo which might have succeeded as an A B A form if its composer knew when or how to stop. There were some expressive moments in the slow portions of the work but for the most part, the music reflected an academic approach to contemporary post-Hindemithian thought that no longer interests this listener at least.

If the Concerto for Two Violins and Strings in D Minor by Bach had received a stimulating and brilliant performance one expects from the programming of such a work, the concert might have left the listeners with perhaps a saving grace of contentment, but the "kapellmeister" of a conductor led his forces through such a heavy-handed metrical interpretation of the music that one could not hear the lines for the beats.

The second violin performance of Heinrich Heerlein was wholly inadequate both, regards intonation and tone color, and though Lukas David's performance clearly outshined his partner's, it did not overwhelm or display emotional attachment to any degree.

Through it all the harpsichord continuo sounded like rubberbands. One could have done better things than attend this concert.

League, will address the group on "Princeton, Town and University, Then and Now". Committee chairmen will also give reports. New and old members are invited.

REAR PORCH DAMAGED

By Intruder. A rear screen porch of the home of Owen Cooper, 63, Knoll Drive, was maliciously damaged over the weekend by an intruder.

The owners told police they had returned from a trip and later noticed the rear screen door was open. Police investigated and said that apparently the intruder knocked a frame out of a screen window and reached in to open the screen door. He then tried unsuccessfully to force the rear door of the house.

Police speculated that out of a fit of anger the intruder tore out two screens and struck the door and window area with a sharp instrument — perhaps an ice pick — about 20 to 30 times. There was no evidence of larceny, police said.

TO MARK REVOLUTION

At Battlefield and Chapel. Ceremonies at Princeton Battlefield and the Princeton University Chapel this Sunday will commemorate the close of the American Revolution and Cornwallis' surrender. The Jersey Blues, oldest regiment in America, will present the colors at both ceremonies.

Dr. Malcolm B Gilmao, historian and president general of the Jersey Blues, will speak at the battlefield on the importance of the Battle of Princeton. A wreath will be laid in honor of General Mercer, who was killed during the battle. The flag procession will include Mercer County Boy and Girl Scout troops, the Princeton High School Band, and several other Mercer County organizations.

The Chapel ceremony will begin at 3. Dean Ernest Gordon will speak on "A Matter of Loyalty", and the 71-voice Princeton High School Choir will sing under the direction of William R. Trego.

News Of The CHURCHES

FRIDAY TALKS PLANNED

At Messiah Lutheran. On four successive Fridays, beginning October 21, an Institute on Church and Society will be held at the Lutheran Church of the Messiah. Sessions begin at 8 p.m. Although other churches have been invited, the principal participants will be Lutherans in the central New Jersey area.

"The aim of the Institute," according to the Rev. Luther Kriefall, pastor, "is to bring the theology of social involvement to the laity. Invitations are being made through pastors to the leaders of the respective congregations, those who make the decisions. We are acknowledging at the outset, really, the fact that many in the churches now are not convinced that the church has a role in the leading social problems of the day. We acknowledge also that we have fallen heir to organizational patterns that tend to blur or obscure or take time away from the real purposes God has set for his church.

"We also wish to rebut the current 'church-is-dead' with a clear, positive attempt to realign ourselves and our church programs."

Speakers scheduled are: (October 21) Herluf Jensen, secretary for intergroup relations and economic affairs (LCA) and chairman of the Human Relations Council of East Brunswick; (October 28) Dr. John Tietjen, executive secretary of the public relations division of LCUSA and author of "Which Way to Lutheran Unity."

Also, (November 4) the Rev. Arthur Simon, lower East Side New York City, and author of "Faces of Poverty," and (November 11) the Rev. Raymond Schulze of New Haven, Conn.

Discussion leaders will explore with groups of about 15 ways of bringing the lecturer's ideas of mission realignment to local churches.

TO INSTALL LAYMAN

As Presbyterians' Head. A Wichita, Kans., attorney William P. Thompson, will be installed as stated clerk of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. at 2:30 on Monday in Miller Chapel at Princeton Seminary.

Mr. Thompson, 48, is the first layman in this century to serve as chief administrative officer of the 3.3 million-member denomination's governing body. The Rev. Eugene Carson Blake, 51, is the first such ceremony to be held at the Seminary.

High officials of more than 20 communions will participate in the service. About 100 persons, including members of the General Council and dignitaries from other Protestant, Catholic and Orthodox churches will take part in the opening procession.

Princeton representatives will include Seminary President James I. McCord, Dean Ernest Gordon of Princeton University Chapel, the Rev. F. Hugh Liffiton, St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church; Dr. Arthur S. Link, vice-president at large of the National Council of the churches of Christ in the USA.

The Rev. Dr. John A. Mackay, president emeritus of Princeton Seminary; the Rev. Dr. Donald M. Reisz, First Presbyterian Church; the Rev. James H. Nichols, Princeton Seminary and Presbyterian Historical Society; the Rev. Carl D. Reimers, assistant dean of University Chapel; Dr. Carter R. Smith, moderator of New Brunswick Presbytery; Bishop Prince A. Taylor Jr., Council of Bishops of the Methodist Church; the Rev. Harold A. Thomas, Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. John Turkevich, Russian Orthodox Greek Catholic Church of America.

TO ORDAIN SEMINARIAN

At St. Andrew's Church. The congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church will witness the ordination of David M. Hay during the 10:30 a.m. family worship service this Sunday, in a departure from tradition. Ordination is usually held before friends and relatives at a time other than the regular worship service.

Participants in the service will be the Rev. Dr. William Tucker, St. Andrew's pastor emeritus; the Rev. Dr. Carter Smith, moderator of the New Brunswick Presbytery; Dr. Daniel L. Migliore and Prof. James F. Armstrong of Princeton Seminary.

Mr. Hay is an assistant professor in New Testament at the Seminary. A native of North Dakota, he is a graduate of Duke University, with advanced degrees from Yale University.

TO LAUNCH CAMPAIGN

For Unitarian Building. Kenneth B. Spear, chairman of the $500,000 expansion building fund of the Unitarian-Universalist Church of Princeton, will open the fund drive at a covered dish supper next Friday, October 21, at the church. A native of Holland, the Rev. Peter H. Samson, now of the White Plains, N. Y. Unitarian Church will be the guest speaker.

Working models and drawings will be on display. Mrs. Robert Reimers, assistant chairman are in charge of dinner arrangements.

SPEAKER: The Rev. Dr. Henry P. Van Dusen, president emeritus of Union Theological Seminary, New York, will speak on the topic, "Why I Am an Ecumenical Christian" at 8:30 p.m. Sunday in the Unitarian Church. Professor of systematic theology, champion of liberal thought, author of some 15 books, Dr. Van Dusen has been associated with the World Council of Churches from its beginning and is a leading figure in the ecumenical movement. The lecture is the fast in the "Why I Am Not a Unitarian" series at the church.

CONFERENCE PLANNED

At Westerly Road. "God's Message for Today" is the theme of the eight-day Christian Life Conference which begins this Sunday at Westerly Road Church, 37 Westerly Road. The public is welcome.

The Rev. William D. Stewart of the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago will be the featured speaker at all services. The pastor of Westerly Road Church, the Rev. Edward H. Morgan is conference moderator.

Sunday services are at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.; weeknight services at 8 p.m. October 23 is the closing day.

TO HOLD ANNUAL SALE

At Rosedale Chapel. The yearly rummage and bake sale at Rosedale Chapel, Carter Road, will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday. Detlev Kemp, president of the board of deacons, is acting chairman.

A wide variety of baked goods prepared by the Ladies Auxiliary will also be on sale. Mrs. David Buchanan is Auxiliary president. A refreshment stand will be manned by the youth group.

An innovation this year will be the display of new and used cars by the Nini-Plymouth Agency, with profit on sales beyond dealers cost going to the Chapel.

According to Mr. Kemp, donated articles for the rummage sale will be welcomed. Pick up may be arranged by calling 924-6031 or 921-0062 during evenings.

Assisting him are Victor Cacavino, Charles Clinton, Ruth Stout, Annabelle Hawke, Niomi Ownsby and Edith Faroe, all of the board of deacons. The Rev. Dr. Samuel Rizzo, pastor, made arrangements for the car display.

150TH YEAR CELEBRATED

By Pennington Church. Bethel A.M.E. Church in Pennington is marking its 150th anniversary this week. Evening services will be held through this Friday at 7:30 p.m. The final service is scheduled for 3:30 p.m. on Sunday. All are invited to worship and share in the event.

The celebration concludes with a banquet at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, October 29, in the Pennington Grange Hall.

BLACK POWER IS TOPIC

Of Two Meetings. The much-used phrase, "black power," will be discussed at two church - sponsored gatherings Sunday.

Professor Malcolm Diamond of the department of religion at Princeton University will speak on the subject at the Meo's Club of Princeton Jewish Center.

At 7:30 p.m., the Rev. Dr. Benjamin F. Payton, executive director of the commission on religion and race of the national Council of Churches, will speak on the same topic, in 10 McCosh Hall, under the sponsorship of the inter-faith United Christian Ministry at Princeton University.

K. M. LIGHT REAL ESTATE

THE HOUSE THAT BAREFOOT BUILT

The ground floor "mud room" of this pre-Revolutionary Princeton house is the earliest part, having stone work dated 1720, the year it was built by Barefoot Brinson, mill owner and long time sheriff of Somerset County. An indoor stream — the inhabitants' source of water in time of Indian warfare — still flows in a small channel through outcropping rocks (emptying into a cistern!) to form a unique setting for house plants. Old floor boards, deep set windows and beautifully detailed moldings are features of the living area throughout.

The center hall leads to a screened gallery overlooking the Millstone River, opening at the right to twin living rooms, on the left to a handsome dining room and kitchen. Upstairs are five bedrooms and three baths. The grounds, landscaped with old trees, terraces, floored walks and steps, are happily in keeping with the atmosphere of the house. A swimming pool and a pitch and put course are concessions to 20th century living! A rare house, and with some freshening, a true beauty. $75,000

Just listed is this gem of a house in the desirable Riverside area, much admired for its appearance even by folks not looking for a home. No gaping garage doors here, they are hidden in the rear.

The elegant center hall, floored in white Amtico vinyl, opens to large living room with fireplace and to crystal chandeliered dining room. Long, long windows in each. Foyer follows through to pretty powder room and laundry room at the back.

Family room has window seat and bookcases, is paneled in walnut and accessible from both kitchen and formal living area. The kitchen is a delight from the walnut cabinets and island dining area to the special drop in electric range and dishwasher and disposal.

Four bedrooms and two most attractive baths complete the second floor. The outstanding touches are too numerous to list but important is the excellent carpeting throughout the house.

We are proud indeed of this listing and would like you to see it. Please call us.

MY HEART GOES WHERE THE WILD GOOSE GOES

and in this enchanting setting birds find a haven. Picture a crisp October morning with the den glistening on the sloping green lawn, the sun shimmering on the water, enjoying your coffee on the enclosed screened porch. What pride to open the handsome door to a wide center hall, magnificent double living room with fireplace, high ceilinged dining room with fireplace; and there is always the picturesque view. A stately old home that has mellowed through the years conjuring memories of our heritage.

Wagon load of features

All the features you've been looking for in a station wagon are yours with Citroën. You get the size of a big wagon (seats 8) and greater economy than a compact (28 to 32 m.p.g.). Citroën with Air-Oil suspension rides more smoothly than other wagons...more smoothly than other cars! Also rides level—even fully loaded. Citroën has many other wagon features you'll like—not offered by any other.

CRANBURY HOUSE

Rare brick country house delightfully restored —

80 percent financing to the right family.

By "right family" we mean one who's ready for real country living — with kids who'll love the rainy-day barn and the room for pets, the nearby Millstone to fish in, and real country-side spaciousness.

Three double bedrooms, two and a half baths, a thirty-two foot living room with two fireplaces, a bright, formal dining room, and a L-shaped, step-saver kitchen and keeping-room with a lusty fireplace — all impeccably finished and decorated. Taxes under $400.

Five minutes from N. Y. express commuting — or especially handy for RCA, McCraw Hill, or Creative Playthings families.

A VIEW FROM THE RIDGE: will take your breath away. You'll find it hard to believe that this lofty wooded vantage point with so dramatic a panorama spread out below could exist in the gently rolling Princeton countryside. Really, it's spectacular! And so are the trees: evergreens, banks of dogwood and deciduous of all kinds. Just three lots available ranging in size from 2 to 3 acres and priced at $14,500; $18,000 and $19,000 respectively

LOST YOUR FRIEND AT CHASE MANHATTEN? Despite the tight money market, we can offer very attractive financing on this delightful small country place just west of Princeton Completely remodelled farm house includes large bay-windowed living room with fireplace, separate dining room, sleek new kitchen with sunny breakfast area; 3 bedrooms and bath. Handsome small barn with room for a car and a couple of horses. Over two acres of high land with lovely trees. Ideal for anyone employed at Western Electric, ETS, or Socony. Owner may require as little as 20% cash. $34,500

IF YOU HAVE SO MANY CHILDREN, WE'LL TELL YOU WHAT TO DO: Come look at this marvellous Western Township house and see if it doesn't have everything your big family needs. Engineered by one of Princeton's most respected builders and beautifully maintained by its present owners, it consists of 5 bedrooms (including a large, delightfully secluded master suite) and 3½ baths. The living and dining rooms are lovely and well suited to entertaining. Plenty of room in the fully equipped kitchen for feeding the children and there's a good big playroom and full cellar for rainy days. Screened porch surrounded by woods. Over two acres just off the Rosedale Road. One of the best values in today's market at $64,500

NOT RUN OF THE MILL: This unusual Township house has always been one of our favorites and it wouldn't surprise us in the least to see it sell overnight this time as it has in the past. Your first glimpse of the balconied living room with its beamed cathedral ceiling and fireplace will tell you why. There's a separate dining room and cozy panelled study opening to a screened porch with a view to the brook and woods beyond. A warm friendly kitchen with all appliances and an enormous master bedroom and bath complete the ground floor. Upstairs, there are 3 more bedrooms and 2 baths. No room measures less than 17' in one dimension. On ¾ of an acre in a most convenient location. $53,500

A WESTERN SECTION GARDEN APARTMENT: Wouldn't that be wonderful? Unfortunately, there aren't any, but we do have a charming one story house which, with its lovely secluded garden, amounts to the same thing. Big living-dining room with fireplace and wall of glass overlooking the grounds. Fine kitchen. Two bedrooms and bath plus study-guest room and bath in a separate wing. $43,500

News Of The THEATRES

FALL SEASON OPENS

In McCarter. The "Agamemnon" that opened McCarter's fall drama series is probably the most dramatic and exciting production of the Aeschylus tragedy that you are likely to see.

Within that comment, of course, is an implicit qualification: for a contemporary audience, no production of Aeschylus can possibly carry the steam and electricity of a play by a first-rate playwright of our own day, and when you recall that Aeschylus wrote 2,500 years ago, "playwright of our own day" includes Shakespeare, a modern only 350 years old.

So be warned. "Agamemnon" is heavy going. Its translator, Robert Fagles, and its director, Anthony Stimac, have used all their considerable talents to make this tragedy "play," but to make Aeschylus "play" is like trying to move a massive, ancient and splendid plinth. And who's to say? Perhaps it should not be made to move at all.

The most important contribution to movement is Mr. Stimac's conception of the nine-man chorus. Dressed in long red robes shaded darker and darker toward the hem as though steeped in blood, and armed with staves that pound a portentous drumbeat upon the stage, these bearded old men move and shift in changing choreographic patterns which paralle the intonations of their speech.

They have the burden in this play. The chorus leader, Louis Galterio, and the other eight, have an almost continuous monologue.

We learn from them, speaking in disciplined unison, about the Trojan war and how the General Agamemnon put his golden daughter Iphigeneia to the sacrifice to appease the god, Artemis. We know already of the Greek victory because the Watchman (Emery Battis) high on the city's gate, has seen the victory beacon. Soon Agamemon will return, to greet his wife, Clytemnestra, mother of the golden daughter, and to meet the fate that an old curse has destined for him.

It is not until the second half of "Agamemnon" that a modern audience can rouse itself and respond at all to the nobility of this tragedy. All that goes before is pageantry and words. Unfortunately, many of these words — and they are lyrical ones in this translation — are lost in spite of Mr. Slimac's discipline.

But when Agamemnon's warcart arrives before the gate bearing the general and his captive slave, Cassandra, and the laconic gearrsl speaks his first words — a brusquely military "First things first" — then the inexorable weight of the tragedy begins to move it forward to its monstrous conclusion.

Ecstatic and wild-haired, Cassandra bursts from the warcart to shriek her foreknowledge of the disaster that will fall on Agamemnon's house. Susan Babel portrays the role with proper violence and sensuality.

Clytemnestra, who has waited 10 years for vengeance, "cuts her way to glory," and with the double-headed axe, coldly strikes the three blows that kill her husband and avenge her daughter. She slits Cassandra with a quick dagger. Then, in the tragedy's most moving moment, with a timeless expression as heart-breaking today as two thousand years ago, she speaks with grief-struck poignance of her "golden girl," now re-united in death with the father who killed her.

Angelo Wood's Clytemnestra has superb, regal ferocity. She seems to have found the tormented lady of steel within Aeschylus' queen.

Other roles have less importance. Agamemnon doesn't live long enough to let us see what Charles Siebert can do. Emery Battis is earthy and rich in a brief appearance as the Watchman. Marc Alaimo, as the Herald, is frequently hard to understand.

Joe Peitl has used lighting effects with skill — his luminous blue backdrop is an illustration — and Charles D. Tomlinson has dressed his players in vivid emerald green wild pinks and blood reds that clash and stab with fine effect.

The best way to enjoy this "Agamemnon" would be to read Professor Eagles' translation immediately after seeing it performed, because it almost surely "reads" better than it "plays," from the very nature of the work itself.

Dr. Fagles has blended colloquialisms with rich-bound imagery (watch his repeated use of "root adn hranch") and lyric imagination in a way which can only delight the modern reader.

For the modern playgoer — well, our playwrights see life as absurd; Aeschylus rationalized the mockery of life in terms of gods and a curse. They are really not so far apart. It is only theatrical technique, the changing machinery of 2,000 years of theatre, that makes them seem so.

— Katharine H. Bretnall

MILLER NEXT

Viewing From the Bridge. Next in line for the McCarter Theatre fall drama series is Arthur Miller's "A View from the Bridge," opening this Friday at 8:30.

Eli Wallach, a familiar face to McCarter audiences, will play Bestrice in Miller's powerful play. She has been seen here as Aunt Lena in "As You Desire Me," Rummy Middleton in "Major Barbara," Kirsten the cook in "Miss Julie" and Hippolyta in "A Midsummer Night's Dream," among others.

Charles Siebert, this season's Agamemnon, will play Eddie Carbone. Marc Alaimo, who plays the Herald in "Agamemnon," will be Rudolpho. Emery Battis will be Alfieri.

IT'S NEW To Us

ARE YOU VERY NEW?
Try Clothes Line, Princeton's newest residents, out old enough to vote but certainly old enough to voice an opinion, will be delighted with the new Feeder Sets now at The Little Clothes Line on Palmer Square.

For the very youngest, there is an all-encompassing bib, quilted, with a prancing pony in the middle. Poke his rat tummy and he squeaks. A spoon and fork come with the bib and make it a "set."

The older child can use a standard bib with a squeaky rabbit. This set has a yarn doll to cuddle while you struggle with the carrots that more rightfully belong to the rabbit.

For a baby shower, Little Clothes Line suggests a percale crib set consisting of sheets and pillowcase. One is white with a tiny edging of pink ($10.95), the other is white with blue and yellow embroidered poodles ($12.95).

Portuguese needlewomen have made the infant's set for a baby boy. It's palest yellow, knit in a soft popcorn stitch and edged with fine ribbing. The soakers are classic, the pullover sweater has a crew neck. You may also have a separate cardigan.

Still in the smallest part of the nursery, we find Little Clothes Line's infant robes, for boy or girl. They are made of arnel fleece, easy to toss into washer and dryer, and they have been cut with such fullness that the baby can wear one for some months before he outgrows the size.

For boys, the white robe has a yellow duck for girls, the white robe has a little flower. Up to size eight months, that's how the fit goes.

Here's a beguiling tapestry homespun cotton in a perky dress with stand-away skirt made possible by the sturdiness of the homespun and its soft cotton lining.

"Too sophisticated a print for one-year-olds," is the shop's decision, and so the dress starts at size two. You may have it up through five, and decide yourself about sophistication. The background is dark blue and the small flowers are russet and olive, the same olive as the dress lining. Under it—it's jumper style—you wear a white blouse with ruffled sleeve edge and round collar.

Sizes four through 12 will want one of each in that collection of tartan kilts. Buchanan, Gordon—they're in stern array on the kilt rack. All wool.

With them, wear a buttery yellow poorboy turtle neck in orlon, or its sister in red or in navy. All three colors go with any kilt.

Remember 1924?
They do at the Saks Fifth Avenue store on Nassau where beauties of the '24 season are still in full bloom.

As part of its window display, Saks is showing photographs taken of Ziegfeld Follies girls from the 1924 show. One shot is a chorus line that looks straight out of Triangle Club.

There's a picture of Lillian Tashman and a couple of a girl named Delores. All those Ziegfeld plumes and trains and feathers are in full flight, but the curious thing about the beauties from a 1966 point of view is — they have so many clothes on!

DINNER AT EIGHT
French Shop First. Floor-length gowns for dinner, or any festivity you have in mind, are sweeping into The French Shop with a grand entrance.

A good bright red-red velvet has been used for one gown, designed with slightly fitting seams all down the front, back panels that stay with the gown and do not break free, and a four-inch band of mink all across the straight front neckline and around to meet the panels.

The royal blue chiffon has long, straight fitted body, straight across the top. Then, over it goes a swirling blue chiffon cape which fastens at the left shoulder with a blue satin bow. You may wear the cape or not, as you choose.

French Shop's dinner dress is black with three-quarter sleeves richly banded with jet (a matching jet necklace is on the little jewel rack). The dress is cut simply with high waist, draped side and U neckline.

Brocades! Of course. Blue, turquoise or apricot, they are, with little bows at the front, or a satin bow at the low back matching the satin around the hemline.

Quiet sophistication in a pale yellow-green wool jersey with just a hint of gold thread in the weave. It has a bow back and streamers of moss green velvet from a high front bow.

Several dinner dresses in pastels have short sleeves, perhaps a bodice of ribbon embroidery or a scroll design in silver thread and sequins.

One dress, a short one, is made of waxed silk with a silk lining. Little silver mirrors go around the bell sleeves and around the U neckline. It's a pale but positive blue cut in a bell shape to match the ring of those bell sleeves.

But we save to the last French Shop's black Dress of the Year. It's a slim, unadorned column, right straight to the floor, covered from low back and high front all the way to the hem with jet sequins. They can see your coming a mile away, and they'll watch you all the way!

A LION 8 FEET TALL

But Cowardly. A Cowardly Lion eight feet tall is not one to bother a Dorothy who is three feet tall — that adjective "cowardly" carries a lot of weight.

Lion and Dorothy are, of course, part of "The Wizard of Oz," thewell-loved Frank Baum fairy tale thatwill be given in McCarter Theatre on Saturday, October 29, at 11 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.

Children may even want to bring their parents; in fact, parents may insist on coming. The Stockholm Marionette Theatre of Fantasy uses a wide range of techniques, including puppets, live actors, unusual lighting effects. Youngsters in the audience are encouraged to participate. Who can resist?

The troupe is Sweden's outstanding puppet ensemble, and its members regularly perform for children in the Swedish schools and in its own theatre.

GARDEN

Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? (now playing) is a grim sordid, emotionally powerful picture, transferring Edward Albee's 1 o n g-running stage hit to the screen without less of impact.

It is far-and-away the best Elizabeth Taylor-Richard Burton achievement to date. It also establishes a new high mark in the use of foul language in films.

The picture tells the story of a night-long drinking party given by a middle-aged college professor and his frustrated wife. Their guests are a young professor who is new to the faculty, and his wife. In the course of endless drinking, joking, lying, laughing, quarreling and telling-all the many-sided characters become revealed.

Miss Taylor's portrayal of the blowsy, vulgar wife is the best performance of her career. Burton's version of the harried history instructor is a textbook example. George Segal and Sandy Dennis contribute mightily in the supporting roles.

The film stands to satisfy all manner of adults — those who are continually seeking the different entertainment, stark-ness in drama, the thrill of illicit romance, the shockingly real language that lashes out, etc. It keeps viewers off balance because by the time one situation subsides, another is brewing.

PRINCE AND TOWNE

Fantastic Voyage (now playing) One of the most amazing science fiction films ever attempted.

The plot concerns a group of scientists in a special nuclear submarine, all reduced to the size of a microbe and injected by hypodermic into a man's neck. They enter a dazzling world of color and beauty, a floating wonderland of huge red corpuscles, whirling globules, platelets and other particles of the blood-stream. In their mission to perform a delicate brain operation, which can only be performed from inside the body, they must combat the elements of the body as well as a saboteur within their group.

To construct the unusual sets, physicians and anatomical specialists from the University of California at Los Angeles School of Medicine were consulted. The magnified reproductions of the various parts of the body are exact replicas.

The weird plot is fraught

PLAYHOUSE

The Wrong Box (now playing). Putting a period comedy on the screen is a difficult enough task. To mix it with the macabre would seem to invite certain disaster. Yet "The Wrong Box" is a comedy set in Victorian England in which a corpse is a principal character and the incredible result is one of the funniest films from England — or anywhere.

It is deftly played with a kind of ensemble expertness by John Mills and Ralph Richardson, among others, joined by Michael Caine (of "The Ipcress File") and Nanette Newman. Peter Sellers appears in a "cameo" role.

The groundwork for the plot is laid when a boys' school class at the turn of the century is told that a lottery has been arranged by their collective parents. The large sum of money will be put in trust, payable to the last survivor of the class, in a series of quick acts, the bizare deaths of the graduates are shown until there are only two left. These are two elderly and eccentric brothers, John Mills and Ralph Richardson, who are neighbors but haven't spoken to each other in 40 years.

Each is determined to outlive the other, and the comedy gets increasing wacky. There is a mix-up during a train accident, the mistaken identity of a corpse, and the conniving of two wicked nephews. One of the funniest scenes involves Peter Sellers as the disreputable doctor whose unkept office is shared with scores of cats.

The mixture of sophisticated drawing-room comedy and slapstick should be enjoyed by all.

COME BACK, KURT

Well, in Retrospect. Songs from such memorable shows as "Threepenny Opera," "Mahagonny," Lost in the Stars," "Lady in the Dark" and "One Touch of Venus" will be sung by the pair of singers starred in "The World of Kurt Weill," destined for McCarter on Monday, October 31 at 8:30.

Martha Schlamm and Will Holt will perform together and in solo, interspersing their songs with banter, talking to the audience about the songs and setting the stage for each. Abe Stockman will be piano accompanist.

"A superlative program," said a New York critic, "Performed with excitement and taste."

SHE'S FROM SHANGHAI

That Hayworth Woman. It was back in the days when Rita Hayworth was Mrs. Orson Welles that she starred in her husband's film," Lady from Shanghai."

Time has passed since this was in 1948 — but the film still has suspense and glamour. McCarter Theatre will show it next Tuesday at 8 as the second in the "Orson Welles Retrospective" series being displayed this fall.

The mystery involves a triagnle on a pleasure-cruise to Acapulco. Welles himself plays an Irish sailor, Everett Sloane a crippled lawyer and Rita the lawyer's wife. The climax, in a deserted Fun House, has become a cinema classic.

"OZ" PERFORMANCE SET

By Nicolo Marionettes. The West Windsor P.T.A. will sponsor a musical performance of "The Wizard of Oz" by the Nicolo Marionettes on Saturday, October 22, at 1 and 3 at the Maurice Hawk School.

The marionettes are hand-carved and are animated to perform to the musical score. Frank Baum's classic children's tale concerns Dorothy's adventures in the land of Oz with a cowardly lion, a tin woodsman, a scarecrow, and the wizard.

Tickets cost 50 cents for children and $1 for adults. They will be sold next week during lunch period in the West Windsor Township Schools. Further information is available from Mrs. Hugh Chronister, 799-0938, 87 Little Street, Princeton Junction; or Mrs. Ronald R. Rogers, 799-1608, Clarksville Road, Princeton Junction.

STRAVINSKY CONDUCTS

His Own Music Heard. On Saturday night, an extraordinary musical event took place at McCarter Theatre. Musicians and concertgoers (many of them from as far as Washington and Boston,) gathered to pay tribute to the undisputed master of 20th century composition, Igor Stravinsky.

The concert was held in memory of Helen Buchanan Seeger, one of the great benefactors of the Princeton University Friends Of Music. The all-Stravinsky program included a sampling of choral and instrumental works reflecting the composer's thought for the better part of half a century.

Symphonies Of Wind Instruments, (1920); Three Sacred Sacred Choruses, (1926-1934); Variations for Orchestra, (1964). Requiem Canticles, (1965-66,) a world premiere — dedicated to Mrs. Seeger's memory; Mass for Mixed Chorus and Double Wind Quintet, (1948).

The New York Concert Symphony Orchestra, the Ithaca College Choir with Gregg Smith as its director, vocal soloists, Linda Anderson, Elaine Bonazzi, Charles Bressler and Donald Gramm were conducted by the composer in the earlier works and by Robert Craft in the two recent creations.

How is one to describe such an event? Stravinsky is now in his 85th year. He has influenced four generations of composers, many of whom were present in the audience.

Listening to the great man's music, one is impressed by the freshness of the early works and the inventiveness of the newest ones. Regardless of the influences present, Stravinsky, as always, emerges as his own master, a superb craftsman, and a composer of true genius. All the music displayed a sense of balance, continuity of thought, and most essential, inspired musical ideas, music of beauty, charm, elegance and wit.

The performances were for the most part, excellent. The orchestral forces contained some of the finest freelance musicians of New York. One hand only to listen to the purity of tone from the double reed members of the ensemble to appreciate the high level of musicianship prevalent.

The choir sang as a well-balanced unit, producing a small but pleasant sound that never appeared forced or strident. Occasionally their attacks seemed less than sure and their sense of rhythm a bit uncertain, but the overall impression of their performance was one of intelligent and musical singing, a credit to Gregg Smith who prepared the group in these difficult works. The soloists were fine also, with Donald Gramm delivering the bass solo in the Tuba Mirum with a deep sonorous tone that was a real delight.

Robert Craft who has done so much to assist Stravinsky during the past twenty years, conducted the Variations and the Requiem with the kind of understanding and musical perceptiveness one has come to expect from an association.

Though Stravinsky as conductor would on the surface not appear to rival Stravinsky, the composer, the results were nevertheless impressive. The composer's tempi seemed to be slower than his recorded performances as while this tended to lessen the effectiveness of the Symphonies Of Wind Instruments, it produced one of the truly breathtaking interpretations that the Mass has ever received.

It is not a simple matter to describe Stravinsky's art, either taken as a whole or dissected in terms of the three major periods of his evolution. The Stravinsky sound is ever-present whether it be in the biting harmonies and repeated motivic patterns of the so called "Russian" works, or the manipulations of his serial structures in his more recent scores. One can observe much of Stravinsky's music of any period, yet he never can be accused of rewriting himself.

A word about the Variations and the Requiem Canticles. Both were composed as memorials the former to Aldous Huxley, the latter to the memory of Helen Buchanan Seeger. Both are representative of the master's involvement with serial technique which first began to interest him during the early 1950's.

These works pose no great problems for the listener who has heard much avant-garde music in recent years, but they show Stravinsky as much a "young" composer as any man in his thirties or forties, striving to create new and meaningful patterns of sound. Though the two newer works lack the grand gesture, the big climatic sections associated with much of Stravinsky's music composed between 1909 and 1950, they are nevertheless highly novel in texture, rhythm and polyphony.

The brevity of the Variations as a whole, and the Requiem within the context of each individual section, limit the music's impact on the listener as thoroughly absorbing emotional experience. The new works taken as a whole, are marvels in detail but in total appear "uneventful." Still this music is no the highest of artistic ideals and worthy of the composer's name.

It was an evening that one will long remember for the remainder of his life and those in the audience who shared in the several standing ovations accorded this great composer. can humbly and sincerely tell those close to them, "I saw Stravinsky."

years began to be recognized the world over.

Less wellknown is the fact that many of her creations were responsible for the commissioning of some of the great ballets of the American Scene. In a sense, it could be said with some degree of accuracy that Martha Graham launched Aaron Copland into the public eye when they collaborated together to create the beautiful and inspired ballet, "Appalachian Spring."

Since the early forties, Miss Graham has pioneered and produced more than one hundred new ballets by American composers. The program presented on Saturday included four such commissioned works; two by Norman Dello-Joio, "Seraphic Dialogue" and "Diversion of Angels", one by Robert Starer for his "Secular Games" and the "Acrobats of God" by Carlos Surinach.

Martha Graham's dance company possesses some of the most gifted dancers on the American scene today. Her choreography is continually exploring new concepts. All the ballets possessed an interplay of ideas that were brilliantly executed.

The set for "Seraphic Game" by sculptor, Isamu Noguchi, was a masterpiece of design, both for its use of abstract metal shapes in a study of line in space and for its functionalism. Though the ballet was impressively portrayed by Mary Hinkson in the role of Joan, she did not appear as graceful as some of her supporting partners who reenact scenes from her life as Joan of Arc. This was the only work on the program that moved at a slow pace and somehow, despite the beauty of the set, the full concentration by the dancers tended to retard the movement still further. The music too was lackluster and not very original, inventive or inspired.

Robert Starer's score to "Secular Games", especially in the lovely second part, was an improvement. The interplay of ideas in Miss Graham's choreography was a study in polyrhythmic movement but for all its meticulous detail, never lost sight of the whole concept. This ballet was the most magnificent and beautifully executed by the dancers.

The "Diversion of Angels" brought forth talents which displayed each dancer as an individual. (In so many ballets, one sees several dancers follow through a set sequence of dance movements.) Miss Graham seems to create steps for each member of her troupe so that they function as individual personalities and the results are rewarding.

The final offering, "Acrobats of God" presented Miss Graham herself in a satirical fanfare of the "trials and tribulations" of the dancer in his effort to become a true artist.

There was much humor and color to this spectacle and Carlos Surinach's score provided the best musical accompaniment of the afternoon.

CONCERT SCHEDULED

By Chamber Orchestra. The Princeton Chamber Orchestra will perform the first of a subscription series of three concerts at McCarter Theater on Monday evening.

Robert Freeman professor of music at Princeton University and conductor of the University Orchestra, will be the soloist in a performance of Hindemith's "Four Temperaments" for piano and orchestra. Mr. Freeman has studied with Rudolf Serkin and orchestral conducting with Leonard Bernstein. He has appeared with the Boston Symphony and the Handel-Haydn Society of Boston.

David Amram's "Autobiography for Strings" and Mendelssohn's "Symphony No. 9" will also be included on the program. Mr. Amram is the composer-in-residence of the New York Philharmonic. The Orchestra plans to record Mendelssohn's rarely-performed work for Decca Records in November.

Tickets for the concert are available at the McCarter Box office.

MUSICIAN RETURNS

After Sojourn in Turkey. Thomas McBeth of 180 Franklin Corners Road has returned to the New School for Music Study after a two-year stay in Turkey. He will assume duties as the school's registrar and administrative assistant in public relations.

While in Turkey, Mr. McBeth served on the faculty of the American Colleges of Istanbul. He appeared as pianist, organist and harpsichordist in college and municipal concerts.

Mr. McBeth was formerly associated with the Princeton music school as piano instructor, registrar and business manager. He is a graduate of the New School for Music Study and Baylor University.

ART
In Princeton

DRAWINGS ON VIEW

At Gallery 100. "Master Drawings from Eight Centuries" constitutes an important showing of original works covering a wide area of art history. To see and enjoy fully this unusual collection at Gallery 100 takes time and, above all, the aid of one's spectacles so as not to miss the minutiae of an illumation from a French Bible of the 13th Century or a charming detail of a miniature watercolor done by Bonington in the early 19th.

More obvious are the Rowlandson watercolors which could be examples of the "riotous living" mentioned in the accompanying biography, and certainly plain to see is the rapture of Gruczner's appealing subject in "Monk with Violin" dated 27 December, 1880.

Many Tastes, Many Eras. Amusing in contrast are drawings like the stilted and contrived "Poetic Landscape" by Solomon Gessner in 1788 and the sentimental confection of a century later called "Invading Cupid's Realm" by Bouguereau, whose style was all the rage at the time of the Chicago World's Fair, 1893.

From the turn of our century comes a rough drawing by the noted German animal painter, Heinrich Johann Zugel; this example of "Heads of Cattle" is full of warm humor and character. "Madonna and Child in Landscape" by Federico Fiori of Urbino in the 16th century appealed to us with its moving simplicity and radiant light. There are many, many others equally interesting.

English, French, Dutch, Italian and German — this marvelous group of drawings holds variety, interest, entertainment and real value for the public. Though difficult to hang, the show has been put together with an eye to pointing out characteristics, influences and varying tastes of certain periods, and in actual arrangement it has been done with a pleasing change of pace.

"MALE ARAB": This 19th-century drawing by Alfred Dehodencq is one of a group of "Master Drawings from Eight Centuries" now hanging at Gallery 100, Through October 30.

NERGAARD SHOWS

At Present Day Club. Helga Nergaard has been active in Princeton's artistic circles since the '40's. She studied here first with Leona Chappell and for some years with Rex Gorleigh at Group Arts.

In 1960 she began working under Hughie Lee-Smith, concentrating on drawing, composition, textures and paint chemistry. By 1964 her work with Stefan Martin in graphics led her to make this medium a major interest. One of the founder of the Princeton Art Association, Mrs. Nergaard continues as Treasurer of the organization and member of its Board of Trustees.

Graphics Outstanding. The Present Day Club opens its programs of monthly shows this October with Mrs. Nergaard's paintings, watercolors and graphics. To many the graphics will be outstanding for strength in composition, vitality of technique and interesting diversity in printing method; etching, woodcut, linoleum cut, collographs, etc.

Two exhibited charts describing the processes of etching and woodcut are explicit, showing initial drawings, basic materials and each ensuing stage. Having absorbed the lesson, the viewer can better appreciate the final effects in their varying degrees of refinement. A pair of dry points on zinc and plastic are a case in point. Both are representations of the Tetons: the former turns out a delicate and sensitive landscape, the latter a studied composition of heavy convolutions. Opposite in mood, both are, nevertheless, quite characteristic of that country.

Among local subjects of Princeton there is a fine etching of a new angle of Nassau Hall, from the back with emphasis on the huge trees, and we wish especially to mention a nice wet watercolor of "Storm Clouds Over New Mexico" which carries its effect right down the whole length of the room. Visitors may see the pictures here upon phoning for an appointment.

PRINCETON GROUP SHOW

At Nassau Club. During October the Nassau Club is showing work of ten Princeton artists. Nine quite different approaches are seen in this exhibit and we hope to give just a suggestion of what you will find here, largely in a representational category.

Emily Stang, using a sketchy technique with little depth has captured an active feeling of flight in "Birds." More ordered, and with very occasional color, Charles McVicker interprets "Trees of Capricorn." Forests brought alive by filtering sunlight are the subjects of William Monaghan's "Summer Landscapes."

Ann Gross has an easy facility in rendering figures in motion both in "Procession" and "Jetty." One expects a gay splash of color applied in a painterly fashion in Nancy O'Connor's work and we're not disappointed in her still lifes. Marie Sturken paints exclusively with hot colors to give impact to her "Procession" and Shirlee Loret seems to concentrate on mood in her "Figure Against Landscape." George Ann Gillespie who always paints with verve and sense of character shows a strong portrait of a young girl.

Peter Cook's portrait of "Jerome" shows an affinity for the little French boy who has just caught his first American fish on the Coast of Maine. Helga Nergaard's two fine etchings are from her series of subjects on the Princeton Campus. Visitors are welcome here at the Nassau Club from 10 am to 12 noon and from 2.30 pm to 5 pm.

PAA AT McCARTER

Posters from the Theatre. At McCarter Theatre in October, the Princeton Art Association sponsors a loan exhibit of posters selected from the Leo Castelli and Andre Emmerich Galleries in New York.

Slanted purposefully towards the theatrical effect, these gay posters represent the various techniques and subjects of well-know contemporary artists. The roster includes Roy Lichtenstein, Andy Warhol, Jim Rosenquist, Jasper Johns, Bireline, Ferber, Helen Frankenthaler, Edward Stamos, Friedel Dzubas, Jack Bush, Esteban Vicente, Ben Shaan and Eric Carle.

ART—1966

Jewish Center Plans Show. "Art Trends '66" will be the theme of the art show now being planned by the Women's Division of the Princeton Jewish Center. The show will open at the Center on Monday, November 7, and will run through the following Thursday.

The show will feature works from the collections of area residents, as well as a variety of original works for sale. Hours will be from 1 to 10, and a contribution of $1 will be asked.

Sponsors and patrons of the show will be invited to a private Champagne Preview on Sunday, November 6. Those interested in being patrons or sponsors should call Mrs. David Parnes, 924-2114, or Mrs. Martin Rome, 921-8641.

Why I Plan to Vote

REPUBLICAN

By Henry S. Patterson

I urge all Borough citizens to vote on November 8 for Fred Blatcher and Charles Conforth, the Republican candidates for Borough Council. They will bring to your Borough government civic and business experience which is so important to the continuance of good governent in the Borough.

Fred Blatcher is a respected member of the Princeton business community, as President of Palmer Square, Inc. His work with the University and with the Princeton Chamber of Commerce and Civic Council, as well as his active participation in many of our charitable agencies have provided him with a wealth of knowledge about the Princeton Community. He knows its problems and how best they can be solved. Fred Blatcher will give the Princeton business community the representation on Council that it should have.

For a number of years, Charles Conforth has been the citizen expert in the field of school and municipal budgets and financing. The Borough is very fortunate now to have the opportunity to take advantage of Charles Conforth's skills in this field on a more formal basis by electing him to the Borough Council. He will be a worthy successor to Dr. Ellwood Godfrey who for so long and so successfully has been the guardian of the Borough's finances.

In addition, Charles Conforth's wide experience in personnel work will be another valuable asset on your Borough Council. His professional "know how" in this field will be important to the Councilmen, Administrator and department heads responsible for supervision over the various people that make up your Borough government. It is now an excellent team. A person with the knowledge and interest of a Charles Conforth can make it even better.

In short, it is important to the future of your Borough to assure its continued progress, to give proper representation to the various segments which make up our Borough community, to take advantage of proven community interest, to elect Fred Blatcher and Charles Conforth to Borough Council. Be sure you vote on November 8.

DEMOCRATIC

By Duane Lockard

On election day, November 8, it will be a pleasure to do what comes naturally for a Democrat: vote for the Democratic candidates for Princeton Borough Council: Dr. Leonard M. Berry and Robert M. Hendry. There have been times in other towns where I have lived when in local elections my allegiance as a Democrat was not strong enough to make me support some candidates on my party's ticket. But in this election I have no difficulty in warmly supporting Dr. Berry and Bob Hendry — they are able men with a good program and I think they would be good for Princeton.

In numerous conversations with them in recent months I have been impressed with their outlook and their plans for action. In particular I like their ideas concerning a master plan, zoning improvements, parking and traffic problems, and their interest in developing middle income housing in Princeton Borough. Let me say briefly why I think these are important issues on which these candidates have something significant to say.

The Borough has spent thousands of dollars, I am told, for consulting fees to develop a master plan, but after years of delay there is still no plan for the citizens of this town to discuss and to be adopted as a blueprint for our future development and growth. Although we are a small community and a compact one, there is a constant process of change and growth going on.

Unless we plan carefully for the future we shall find ourselves committed to errors and irrevocable decisions that in fuller foresight could have been avoided. A comprehensive master plan is a necessity, and Dr. Berry and Bob Hendry intend to press for actions to get such a plan.

Only when we get a proper master plan will it be possible to develop a tighter zoning program so that we do not go on making zoning variances in one special case after another, thereby raising suspicion of favoritism, equally bad, committing us to awkward and ill-advised buildings that stand in the way of architectural integrity in our community. Dr. Berry and Bob Hendry are alert to these problems and want to establish a zoning process, based on a sound master plan, that will serve Princeton's best interests.

On the problem of parking and downtown traffic, the Democratic candidates, it seems to me, have some sound and appealing ideas. Because it can take a half hour to get from one end of Nassau Street to the other at rush hour, and because it is often difficult or impossible to find a convenient parking place downtown when one wishes to shop there, they are proposing a parking garage two or three levels high. And to help meet the housing problem they want an investigation of the possibility of erecting apartments above the parking garage. This would serve several ends at once: improve the traffic situation by taking away on-street parking, make available adequate parking for shopping convenience, provide much needed housing for families who wish to live in the same town where they work, and add some rateables to the tax list to hold down taxes.

Finally I am pleased to be able to vote for them because I know they have had long experience in community affairs, that they are intelligent and capable professional men, and they both want action and will insist that we stop delaying on so much needed improvements for Princeton Borough.

DINNER-DANCE PLANNED

By Democratic Club. The annual dinner-dance of the Democratic Club of Princeton will be held on Friday, October 28, at 7 at the Nassau Inn. Congressman Frank Thompson Jr. will speak and Charles Farrington will serve as toastmaster.

Candidates for local and state offices will also be present. Co-chairman of the affair are Mrs. Edward Sweeney and Mrs. Robert McAvenia. Reservations can be made with Mrs. Esther Dilworth, 524 Kingston Road.

FRENCH GROUP TO MEET

New Members Invited. Le Cercele Francais de Princeton will hold its opening meeting of the new season on Tuesday at 8.30 p.m. in Princeton University's Wilcox Hall. Members and newcomers interested in French culture and in speaking French are invited.

The club will continue its traditional "L'Heure de l'Aperitif" at Wilcox Hall from 4 to 6 on the first and third Tuesday of each month beginning in November. Le Cercle Francais has also announced that it will make its library available for general circulation in the French section of the new Public Library on Witherspoon Street.

Canadian government will also be exhibited.

Many of the objects will be on sale. The opening program will also include a speech by Jeremy N. Watney, cultural development officer of the Canadian government's department of Northern Affairs.

On Saturday the festival will feature exhibits and booths with gifts from around the world. The program on China will include a lecture and slide presentation on "Chinese Festivals" and an exhibition of Chinese tray painting by Mrs. Edmund Worthy.

For the youngsters, there will be puppets and marionette shows during the day and a Halloween Party complete with witches and goblins on Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Morris Kinnao are planning this event.

Proceeds from the festival will be used for the YWCA's work in the United States and abroad.

LUNCHEON PLANNED

With Musical Program. Miss Janice Matisse will give a vocal concert at a casserole luncheon of the Woman's Club of Princeton on Thursday, October 20, at noon at the Shrine Club. Mrs. Minot C. Morgan Jr. is chairman of the affair.

The concert will range from opera to musical comedy. Miss Matisse was trained with teachers and coaches of the Metropolitan Opera. She was awarded a scholarship to the Hunter College Opera Workshop and was a winner of the Young Artist Award of the Harlem Philharmonic Society.

She has sung leading opera roles, including Carmen, at Town Hall, the Brooklyn Academy of Music and Chautauqua. Last season Miss Matisse appeared with Eugenie Fernandi of the Met in the Waldorf's Grand Ballroom.

VIETNAM BOMBING DEBATED: The brothers Oliver, Paul (right) and Jim favor a continuance of our bombings of North Vietnam, "If we stopped, we'd just be telling them we'll be here for another 30 years," said Paul. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: In your opinion, should the United States again stop its bombings of North Viet Nam?

Where asked: Nassau Street.

Paul Oliver, 223 Terhune Road, employee, Skillman Furniture Store: I don't think they should. Otherwise, we're inviting North Viet Nam to keep pouring in there. How are you going to win that way? We'd just be telling them we'll be here for another 30 years. We should bomb their ports and sources of supply. And the sooner the better. I don't care what way you're in; if you want to win, this is what you have to do.

James Oliver, 180 Alexander Street employee, Skillman Furniture Store: No, I don't think we should. If it means moving to strategic bombing, if it means bombing Hanoi and Haiphong in order to win, then I think we should — any place whenever it becomes necessary. If you destroy their sources of supply, they can't fight, they can't do anything.

Brooks Ferebee,, Edwards Place, graduate student, mathematics: I think so. I believe it is so important we get peace in Viet Nam that it's worth another try. I think the situation is different than when we tried before. I think North Viet Nam realizes now it cno't win and it might be more receptive. I think it is humiliating for them to negotiate for peace while they are being bombed because it looks as if they are giving up.

Miss Theresa Magee, 86 Spruce Street, cashier, Lahiere's Restaurant: I think we should do something, definitely. Too many young boys are dying over there for no reason at all.

David Storey, Princeton Junction, accounting office, Princeton Day School: No, I don't think so. I feel they've been pretty effective. Our bombing is supposedly cutting off their supply routes and slowing them down.

Mrs. Huei Ling, 36 Maple Street, housewife and native of Hong Kong: No, I don't think so. I don't think if you stop bombing you will get peace. You are more likely to get peace if you continue to bomb.

Paul Capus, Warminster, Pa., professional representative for drug company: No, I don't think we should. Definitely not. With the present course of action, there doesn't seem to be any willingness on the part of the Viet Cong to negotiate. This was tried last December. There was a cessation for about a month but it didn't do any good.

Mrs. Howard Roberts, 32 Jefferson Road, housewife: Yes, I think we should discontinue the bombing. My husband was an advisor in Viet Nam and we both favored using the United States as an advisor but the war has gone beyond that.

Mrs. Enid Campbell, 111 Maclean Circle, housewife: Yes, I think we've got to do something to help the civilian population in Viet Nam. I think the bombing is strategically fruitless, I also feel, along with a cessation, we've got to do everything we can to restore some measure of peace to the Vietnamese people.

Joel Blum, Lakewood, engineer: No, because the Viet Cong aren't going to stop fighting if we stop bombing. If you're fighting a war, you fight to win!

Mrs. Jules Silver, Yardley, Pa., housewife: No, I feel we should go all out and get it over with and get out of there. And that's the only way we'll ever get out of there!

William Ford, Springfield, Ill., owner of printing plant: Yes, in order to start serious negotiations for a peace settlement, I read in the Times this morning that Russia had indicated a willingness to accept a cessation of the bombing as a basis for the starting of negotiations.

Abe Goldberg, Perth Amboy, financial planning: Yes I don't feel we have any business there in the first place. We have no right to bomb other people.

Joseph Netterman, Hightstown, professor, psychology department, Princeton University: There are so many vagaries here, involving complex international relations — that of Soviet Russia, our Western Allies, and Communist China — that there simply isn't a yes-no answer to stopping the bombing of North Vietnam. I think on many other occasions we have indicated our willingness to try to reach a settlement through Arthur Goldberg openly and through other governments. Certainly we have no territorial interests in Viet Nam. As for the bombings I personally would like to see all wars stopped and I am certain that President Johnson feels the same way.

Bird Sweep Unforseen

Of the 20 who predicted the outcome of the World Series last week, no one had the temerity to pick the Orioles in four straight.

In Town Topics' poll, the Dodgers were selected, 14, to 6, with four predicting a Dodger sweep. Of the six who picked Baltimore, four were close in naming the Orioles in five.

This knowledgeable quartet included Alexander "Sandy" Forsythe of Skillman, an employee at Nassau-Conover Motors; Lou Moreto of Kendall Park, a project director at Benson & Benson; Edward Keahey of Trenton, a tree surgeon for Alan Hartley; and Howard Steltz of Manasquan, a cable splicer.

Joseph F. Hanlon, 27 Toth Lane, Rocky Hill, will teach a course sponsored by the Packaging Institute on "How Packaging Relates to Marketing." The course will consist of eight weekly sessions, starting next Wednesday, to be held at the Roger Smith Hotel in New Brunswick. Hanlon is with Johnson and Johnson.

Robert B. Rock, Jr., 380 Riverside Drive, has been named vice - president - international of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association. Mr. Rock has traveled extensively as a representative for the Singer Company, the Gillette Company and Johnson and Johnson. A graduate of Princeton University, he has also studied at Harvard and Durham University in England.

Charles H. Brown, 653 Kingston Road, lawyer and chairman of local Selective Service Board 29, recently toured missile defense installations in Texas, New Mexico and Colorado as a guest of the Department of Defense for the State of New Jersey. The trip, part of the Defense Department's "Operation Understanding", included a visit to the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs.

Ben N. Strabecker, 25 Knoll Drive, has been named to the new position of director of marketing development for the Packaging Division of Elmhurst, Ill., one of the largest manufacturers of cookies and crackers. Mr. Strabecker was formerly director of marketing services for the Johnston and Johnson Permacel Division.

Robert Ehret, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ehret, Princeton-Lawrenceville Road, is the center on Princeton University's football team this year. A graduate of Lawrenceville School, Mr. Ehret is a senior in the department of politics.

Harold E. Zarker, 174 Jefferson Road, senior vice-president of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company, will speak this Thursday at the conference of the Connecticut Bankers' Association at Cheshire, Conn. He will discuss problems of internal communications in banking, especially as they relate to employees. Mr. Zarker has lectured on business at Rutgers University for several years.

Dr. Edward W. Morehouse, Allison Road, has been appointed a Regent's Lecturer for the month of October at the University of California, Santa Barbara. Dr. Morehouse will give two public lectures on economics and will consult with students and faculty members.

Professors Cyril E. Black, Richard Falk, Klaus Knorr and Oran Young, all of the Princeton University faculty, are the authors of a report made public this week by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee urging the United States to neutralize Southeast Asia.

The professors suggest that neutralization may be the only practical way to avoid maintaining troops in Southeast Asia for the next 20 years or longer. The neutralization they say, could involve only South Vietnam, or it could be extended to include North Vietnam, Laos, Cambodia and possibly neighboring countries who wish to be included.

The report recommends that the Administration begin private negotiations toward neutralization. Senator J. William Fulbright has endorsed the professors' recommendations.

Seaman Jerry Opperman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Opperman, Brunswick Pike, has completed nine weeks of basic training at the Naval Training Center at Great Lakes, Ill. During training, he studied military affairs and lived under conditions similar to those he will encounter on his first assignment.

Dr. Herbert I. Moss of the technical staff of RCA Laboratories spoke this week at a national meeting of the basic science division of the American Ceramic Society at Pennsylvania State University. Dr. Moss will deliver a paper which he wrote with William P. Slichter, a technical staff associate at RCA, on an aspect of ceramic production.

Pvt. Joseph R. Beachell, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Beachell, Skillman, has completed eight weeks of recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot at San Diego. He studied military history, marksmanship and unarmed combat. He is now beginning four weeks of combat training to be followed by four weeks of specialist training.

Ralph T. Fisher, 58 North Main Street, Pennington, director of the State Department of Health, has been chosen president of the Tri-State Chapter of the Society of Public Health Educators, which represents Connecticut, New York and New Jersey. Mr. Fisher has served in various administrative positions in the state government and has lectured at Rutgers, Seton Hall and Columbia Universities.

Dr. Cyril Black, 182 Western Way, Dodge Professor of Russian History at Princeton University, is the author of a new book, "The Dynamics of Modernization," published by Harper and Row. Prof. Black is chairman of Princeton's Coordinating Committee on Foreign and International Affairs.

Theodore G. Kane, 320 Princeton-Kingston Road, has been named a vice-president of the Chase Manhattan Bank. Mr. Kane, who has been with the bank since 1948, is in the pension trust division. He is an honors graduate of Princeton University and a graduate of Rutgers University's school of banking.

Gordon H. Mack, 225 South Harrison Street, associate director of the Central Atlantic Area YMCA in Princeton served as consultant to Leadership Resources of Washington, D.C. at the National Conference for Headstart Administrators held last week in Cincinnati. Mr. Mack has written an article which appears in the current issue of "Forum", the journal of professional YMCA secretaries.

Linda S. Cooroy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Cooroy, 310 Nassau Street, has been invited to pledge the Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority at the University of Wisconsin.

CORNER AT HAND

And Tigers Must Turn It. The next two weeks are quite likely to determine whether Princeton's football team can maintain its record of always having finished in first division in the Ivy League during the present decade, or whether it will slip to the lower echelons and an overall record below .500 for the first time since 1959

Colgate, which tied the Holy Cross eleven that beat Dartmouth, will come to Palmer Stadium Saturday at 2. The following weekend, a Penn team which fully believes it is capable of beating the Tigers for the first time in seven years, will be waiting for the Orange and Black at Franklin Field If Princeton loses both these games, the word may well be, "look out below."

It is four years since Colgate last won here, and in the intervening three, the New York state eleven hasn't scored a point. The margin last fall was 27; in 1964, it was 9 and before that, 42.

The trend has been up in the Chenango Valley, however, and after the one-sided defeat here last season, Coach Hal Lahar's operatives went on to beat Army and complete a fine 6-3-1 season. Many of the players who made it possible are back.

One-Point Decisions Hurt. While the visitors this year are no better than 2-1-1, only the margin of points after touchdown has kept them from being undefeated. They rolled over Boston University and Columbia with one-sided victories, then lost to impressive Cornell, 15-14, and were held to a 14-14 tie with Holy Cross when the conversion try was blocked in the closing minutes.

QUICK LOOK AT COLGATE

OFFENSE: Averaging two touchdowns against good teams but may well take troubled Tigers for more.

DEFENSE: Tough. Coach Hal Lahar prides himself on this aspect of the game and his team is hard to score on.

CHIEF ASSET: Largely a veteran squad built around numerous experienced holdovers.

CHIEF PROBLEM: Lack of breakaway scoring threat.

TYPE OF ATTACK: T with flankers.

Colgate's ground game, featuring the running of Ron Principe, Marv Hubbard and Captain Ray Ilg, has been its strong point. Sophomore quarterback Ron Burton has had problems with his passing and may yield the starting assignment Saturday to one of the two veterans from whom he seemingly had won it when the season began. These would be Jim Lynch and Bob Mark.

Princeton, meanwhile, may be something of a sitting duck for the Raiders as it seeks to regroup after the 31-13 pasting it absorbed at Hanover Saturday. The Tigers had pointed for the return match with the team that had knocked them out of the Ivy title a year ago and must now try to take a good non-league team in stride. It will not be easy.

Ability to alternate Bob Weber and Dick Bracken at tailback, and Dave Martin and Bob Berkeley at fullback will strengthen the offense, but very probably not in marked fashion. For the first time in five years, Princeton's fine running game is well below par and the Tigers are throwing more than they ever have before. At Hanover, they passed 34 times—nearly double the average number of aerials they launched per game a year ago—and just two short of the all-time record that was set in the wild 46-28 loss to Penn as far back as 1940.

Dartmouth Has Real Power. While the upset at the hands of Holy Cross, and the fine start Cornell has made this year, indicate that Dartmouth is no shoo-in for a second straight Ivy title, the Indians are still clearly the team to beat. In a perfect Indian Summer setting Saturday, they played near-perfect football as they became the first team in several seasons to have Princeton clearly beaten before the end of two periods.

Ivy League Forecast

Colgate over Princeton. On better defense.

Yale over Columbia. Elis run well.

Dartmouth over Brown. Indians' attack now set.

Penn over Bucknell. Quakers can score.

Cornell over Harvard. On well-balanced offense.

Last Week

Record to Date

15 Right, 3 Wrong — .833

Yielding a quick touchdown at the four-minute mark on a 66-yard drive that gave the Tigers a highly-encouraging start, Dartmouth regained charge of the contest almost immediately. The Green took just three plays to draw even, erasing 69 yards on a seven-yard pitchout and two passes. As soon as it got its hands on the ball again, the home team covered 52 yards in nine plays to go ahead for good.

A 26-yard field goal and another 64-yard touchdown drive, this time in just four plays, made it 24-7 at the half and no contest. This was even good enough for Coach Bob Blackman, who thoughtfully went with his reserves during the greater part of the second half after a quick touchdown with three minutes gone raised the count to 31-7.

Bob Weber saw his first concentrated action at tailback in the final two quarters, his passes highlighting three penetrations deep into Indian territory, one of which gave the Tigers their second TD. The others ground to a halt on the 11 and the 1.

In all, the victors ran for 345 yards and compiled a total offense of 511—both Dartmouth records. Quarterback Mickey Beard accounted for 234 yards rushing and passing and directed an offense that had Princeton continuously outmanned and outmaneuvered.

Dick Colman's estimate "Our worst defensive performance in years."

Defense the Key, and Tigers Can't Find It

Princeton's football team to date has played one extremely good opponent, one that — like itself, may have trouble topping the .500 mark — and one that will find it difficult to win more than a game or two. Against opposition of such varying degrees of ability, the Tigers have:

- Given up 496 yards rushing, a ratio of better than four for every three they have made themselves;
- Allowed 585 yards passing — nearly 50% of the yardage they allowed in the air throughout the entire 1965 season;
- Been the victim of five scoring passes, four of them ranging from 52 to 83 yards;
- Allowed a total of 1081 yards in three games for an average of 360 — more than the length of a football field than the average of 250 with which the 1965 team was debited.

The Tigers' problem on pass defense is two-fold — lack of an adequate pass rush and a lapse in proper coverage when the opposition connects for the bomb. Best proof of their relative weakness is shown in the three performances this season by Columbia quarterback Rick Ballantine: throwing a slippery ball in a driving rainstorm, he connected nine times here for 324 yards and two touchdowns, while against Colgate and Harvard on dry days, he has completed a total of seven passes for 113 yards and no points.

Scoring two touchdowns in each of their games, and adding one field goal while missing two p.a.t.s., the Tigers are not about to overwhelm anyone with their rebuilding offense. The key to the 1966 season accordingly lies in the ability of the defense to keep the others guys within hailing distance, and that at the moment appears to be a very tall order.

THE BIG ONE: THS-THS

Rivals Clash Here Saturday.

"I hope we have a good game against them. We need a Trenton win; it means a lot to all of us."

The speaker: Princeton High School coach Dick Wood. The occasion: the annual clash, set in classical mold, between traditional rivals Princeton High and Trenton High which will unfold Saturday morning at Princeton. Kickoff will be at 11.

Trenton is the granddaddy among PHS opponents. It and the fledgling Princeton High first began playing each other in the late 1920's and Wood recalled. "Even when I was in high school we played Trenton and that goes back a long ways." As far as he could remember, neither school has a decided edge in victories.

This year, however, the Little Tigers have an even stronger reason than tradition for wanting to defeat THS. A grevious wrong has to be atoned. "I don't believe in harboring a grudge," said Wood, but he adds: "Much as I've tried to forget it, it keeps cropping up."

The incident that sticks in the craw of the Little Tigers was a blatant personal foul last year by a THS defensive player which resulted in a neck injury to end Vince Boccanfuso. He was sidelined for the rest of the season. Game films portray clearly a repeated malice on the part of the Trenton player toward Boccanfuso, a player who outweighed him 210 to 136.

But even without these incentives, PHS is sky-high following its 47-0 rout of North Hunterdon Central last week. In its last two contests, the rampaging Blue and White has outscored its opposition, 71 to 0. Viewed from any angle, it adds up to trouble for Trenton.

THS Unimpressive. The book on THS, which won five of nine last fall under coach Bob Callahan, is incomplete. What there is is unimpressive. One-third through their season, the Tornadoes have scored a total of 13 points.

These were recorded in a come-from-behind 13-8 triumph two weeks ago over lightly-regarded St. Anthony's. In its opener, Trenton was taken apart by a strong New Brunswick squad, 41-0, and in its last start against Asbury Park, it was blanked again, 12-0, in an upset. Not much is expected from Asbury Park this year, either.

At the beginning of the season, Callahan said that Trenton was going to stress ball control and defense. What defense there is led by two hulking tackles, Lou Riggi, 220, and Dennis DeFazio, 245 —two of 14 returning lettermen. Veteran halfback Jim Rankin and quarterback Bob Scarfano are the Red and Black's most effective ball carriers.

On the surface, it appears PHS should have no trouble making Trenton its third straight victim. But in heated rivalries such as this one, sure things have a tendency to unravel.

GROB SCORES FROM THE THREE: Fullback Ken Grob scores Princeton High School's fifth touchdown from the three in Saturday's 47-0 rout of North Hunterdon Central. The TD was Kerb's third of the season, in all, the Little Tigers crossed the goal seven times with tailback Jeff Bullock accounting for the first four. (Staff Photo)

No Contest. It was lion against tiger Saturday at North Hunterdon Central just a short punt away from Route 22 and when the battle was over all that remained were a few lion bones on the sun-drenched field. The Little Tigers simply chewed Hunterdon into little pieces en route to a 47-0 win.

For all practical purposes, the game was over less than halfway through the first quarter, as tailback Jeff Bullock stunned the home crowd with three quick scores. His fourth TD for the day came later.

On the third play from scrimmage, he dashed up the middle and cut to his left to score standing up from 43 yards out. Moments later PHS took over again on its own 28 when a Hunterdon pass on fourth down failed. Bullock capped the drive by scoring from the one. Then on the next series of plays, he intercepted a Hunterdon pass on the latter's 42 and ran unmolested into the end zone.

"I can't ever remember getting that many points so quickly," said Wood. "It's been many years since I've had a game like this. Everything went our way." He added that it's been some 15 to 18 years since PHS last faced the problem of trying to hold down the score.

Hunterdon never came close to scoring. Its attack lacked precision and continuity and hence any effectiveness. On top of that, it ran headon into a suffocating PHS defense—and an opportunistic one, such as in the third quarter when Carmelo Mauro went up from his linebacker position to aid in a tackle and wrestled the ball away from the ball carrier before he hit the ground and scampered in some 20 yards for Princeton's sixth TD.

PHS tallied once in the second period. Starting on the home-team 35 after a fake Lion punt misfired, Bullock got a first down on the 24, in two carries fullback Ken Grob advanced the ball to the 14 and on second and nine, Bullock carried it over for his fourth in a row.

Keith Conover added the extra point. After watching his first two go awry, he methodically rammed the next five home with letter-perfect precision.

Grob, Madden Score. Grob got the fifth TD on a three-yard run and Charlie Madden closed out the Blue and White scoring with a three-yard plunge in the final quarter. Wood summed it up by saying, "Sometimes you get rolling and everything goes right for you and everything goes wrong for the other team."

With the pressure off, Wood was able to give five sophomores and his juniors a chance to play. Although none was able to connect with a scoring pass, no fewer than four players were flinging for the Blue and White. Bullock started, then Yoder added some fine completions to end Tommy Wood and Rich Volz followed by Wood firing to reserve back Stewart Bell.

About Bell, Wood commented that he ran well and he plans to use him more. "He has good speed and he's not afraid of anything." Toward the end of the game, Mauro, who normally limits his activity to defense, got a chance to run the ball from the full-back position where he tore up chunks of yardage for long gainers.

For North Hunterdon, a pleasant-looking brick school built in 1951 which stands in blotted splendor in the hills of central Jersey, the defeat was its third in a row this year without a win. At the half, the Lions were behind in total yardage, 146 to 36.

PDS TO OPPOSE BLAIR

Wednesday at 3:30. That Princeton Day School will be ready to move up to varsity competition next year is evident from its 38-0 victory over Montclair Academy in its opener last week. In 1967 PDS will play a seven-game varsity schedule, opening with Hun School, which promises to be the inaugural of a traditional rivalry.

Coach Dan Barren expected to find out this week just how good his 25-player squad is when PDS opposed Blair Academy Wednesday on its home field. Starting time for all PDS contests at home during October is 3:30.

Last fall, Blair beat PDS, 13-7, one of two defeats sustained by the Blue and White. "This is the tough one," said Barren. "I'm hoping I can get the boys up for this one." He added that Berry Bates, coach of the Blair jayvee squad, told him that his 40-member squad was "even stronger this year."

Against Montclair, PDS scored in every period. Halfback John Clagharn of Princeton started it off by scoring from three yards out on the sixth play from scrimmage. Jeff Trani, of Trenton, His shot measured 2'7½" from the hole. He won a pair of golf shoes and golf picket donated by Frank's Sport Shop.

It was Mr. Trani, Township police said, who loaned Mr. Yard his large iron. The two are friendly rivals and at the time of the exchange, Mr. Trani was in first place.

Fourth was J. Taylor Woodward, 15 Hodge Road, whose ball ended 2'-8 7/8" away from the cup. His reward was a case of anti-freeze donated by Pete & Mike's Mobil Station.

In fifth place was Thomas Moore, 18 Green Street. His effort of 2'-5½" was good for a case of oil donated by Stefnelli's American Service Station. Pfl. Anthony Finelli of the Township, a member of the hole-in-one committee, reported that, in all, 100 golfers tried their luck.

REEDER AND LAWSON WIN

In Carnegie Races. John Reeder and Jerry Lawson took first place honors in the Carnegie Club's series last Sunday afternoon. Light winds of 11 mph breezes graced the lake, but the boats were troubled by weeds in the shallow areas.

Reeder and his crew, David Gates, sailed the Penguin fleet with 40.5 points. They edged Peter Miller who totaled 39.5. Other skippers in this class were: John Hopfield, 31.4; Rick Goetz, 27.1; Tom Lawson, 22.3; Walt Foster, 20.0; Pat Curtiss, 18.0; Roger Broker, 16.0; Art Kinsolving, 14.0; and Steve Lepo, 2.0.

Jerry Lawson, with his wife Nancy as crew, scored highest among the sloops with 21.4. He was followed by Tom Hilton, 19.5; Bob Wilson, 18.0; Pete Mory, 17.7; Walt Gibson, 15.8; and George Hunt, 12.0.

The Penguin skippers will compete again Saturday morning in the annual Touchdown Regatta Bowl and on Sunday afternoon in the Walt Jefferson Memorial Race.

Prizes in the Touchdown Bowl will be awarded after each race, and the participants will then proceed to Palmer Stadium for the Princeton-College contest. All registered skippers are invited to enter the bowl.

The Jefferson races will be fleet. Those entering must have a handicap event for the CSC a handicap established by at least ten races this year.

HUN BOWS TO PERKIOMEN

Germantown Next Foe. It's been a long time since Hun has sustained back-to-back defeats, but that was its fate Saturday when visiting Perkiomen came from behind to win, 19-13, before a Parents' Day crowd which included Governor and Mrs. Richard J. Hughes. This plus an opening loss to Admiral Farragut left the Johnny Hun two down in the lost column — one more than it had all last season.

Hun will try to snap back Friday when it travels to Philadelphia foe a 3:15 Penn-Jersey League contest with

PDS LINEMEN: Members of the Princeton Day School line are from left Ed Cole, Dave Vomacka, Bob Ramsey, Frank Andrews and John Vareen. Ramsey and Vareen are juniors, the other three sophomores. PDS will not have a senior class until 1967 when it will compete on the varsity level for the first time. (Staff Photo)

His 50-yard punt return set up PDS's second tally, which co-captain and quarterback Bill Rigot scored on an 18-yard scamper.

Rigot Goes 90 Yards. Two minutes before the end of the first half, after Montclair had penetrated to the PDS 10, Rigot intercepted a pass in the flat and was off on a 90-yard TD gallop.

In the third period, Clagharn went off tackle for 40 yards and PDS's fourth score. "For so early in the season, our blocking and tackling was sharp and well executed," commented Barren. The final two PDS tallies came when tackle Keith Gunn of Princeton recovered a Montclair fumble in the end zone and Rigot dashed 20 yards to score his third TD of the afternoon. On the latter play, Rigot was sprung free by Richard Raines who took out two defenders on a key block.

Although he failed to join the scoring parade this time, fullback Sandy Wandell of Princeton was the team's workhorse, gaining 78 yards in nine carries. In addition Barren reported that Wandell excelled on defense as linebacker and led the team in tackles.

ROGER YARD IS FIRST

In Hole-in-One Contest. Roger Yard, 12 Laurel Road, won the hole-in-one contest sponsored by the Princeton Patrolman's Benevolent Association 130 and held Saturday at the Springdale Golf Club.

Using a borrowed five iron, Mr. Yard, who is owner of the Rug & Furniture Mart on Route 206, hit his ball to within 1 foot, 3¼ inches of the hole. The prize for the hole was used measured 137 yards from tee to green. His accuracy won for Mr. Yard the first-place prize of a set of matched irons and woods and a golf bag.

Mrs. Elizabeth Barrie, 2 Queenston Place, was second (1'-5") and won a $50 pair of golf shoes donated by Richard's, 135 Nassau. In third place was Anthony "Red"

Germantown Friends. The Quakers are in the same position as Hun, having lost 13-6 to Solebury and 7-0 to Pennington.

Can Hun come back? "I hope so," said coach Hawley Waterman. "We think we've been doing the same things as before when we won, but fumbles and penalties have hurt us. We gave Perkiomen 20 yards the first two times they had the ball — an off side and a face mask."

Against Perkiomen, defending Penn-Jersey League champions, Hun scored early. Perkiomen fumbled Bill Kehoe's first punt of the game and halfback Frank Cane recovered for Hun on the visitors three. Quarterback Ken Kelly crashed over on the next play on a wedge. Kelly also dove over for the extra point.

Perkiomen retaliated with a 20-yard scoring pass but remained behind when its h.t. attempt was blocked. In the second period, Hun widened its lead to 13-6 following another scoring plunge by Kelley from the one. Before the half ended, however, Perkiomen tied it at 13-13 and went ahead with two minutes to go, its winning TD was set up by a Hun fumble on its own 33.

The second half was a stalemate. A pass interception by Perkiomen on its 20 and a recovered fumble thwarted two promising Hun drives.

Dick Mate, Mark Short, Dave Liederman and Bill Kehoe did the bulk of the carrying for Hun. Defensively, middle linebacker Kehoe led the team in tackles with 15 followed by Duke Chute's 10.

TOURNAMENT DRAWS 32

Mather, Paine Win. Maury Mather's 75 and Bill Paine's net 72 were the best scores in the Chamber of Commerce Golf Tournament, held at Hopewell Valley. Fifty-two entries competed.

Bill Anderson was runner-up to Mather with an 80, while four players tied for second low net honors. They were Jack Houghton, Bob Forrey, Allen Frank and Frank Quinby.

Rick Schreve's net 72 under the Calloway system won the prize in that division, while M.A. Arcamone followed with 73. John Perone, Mike DeSanta and Tom Moore all had 74s.

Trophies presented to the winners will be on display for a short time in the Chamber office window on Palmer Square. They will then become the victor's possession until the 1967 tournament is staged.

BOWLING NOTES

Jim Kahny Rolls 630. In the B League last week, Jim Kahny had a good night, rolling games of 185-221-224 for a fine 630 series. Al Rouch with a 225 posted the highest single game.

Other high scores were John Baldino, 219; Al Hibberd, 212; Earl Smith and John Anderson, both 210; and Bud Fowler and Andy Querec, both 207. Frank Delneso had 201-205.

In the standings, Leo's Gulf moved into a first-place tie with Nassau Del. Each has 20 points. Princeton Inn and Ivy Inn, both with 18, and Central Paper, two more back, follow.

Jerry Tomarchio in the GOLF VICTOR: Maurice Mathee (center), low gross winner with a 75 in the Chambee of Commerce Golf Tournament. With him are the tournament co-chairmen, Ted Reed and Alex Frank.

Three-Man Classic League also fashioned a 630 series, sandwiching a sizzling 255 between games of 202 and 173. Frank Cawley worked the pins for a 236 game.

Also over the 220 mark were Sam Shurea, 229; Jim Regoli, 226; and Frank Delneso, 223. In all, 15 were above the 200 mark.

With 10 wins, Farr Hardware maintained its front position, trailed by Colonial Restaurant, Decker's Dairy and Porcaccini Contractors with 8, 7, and 6 respectively.

Princeton No. 1 has jumped into an early and sizeable lead in the Tri-County Firemen's loop with a 26 to 18 margin over Rocky Hill. Three teams — Mercer No. 3, Kingston and Lawrenceville — are tied for third place at 16.

Bill Whatley rolled the best game among the firemen, a 223, which he preceeded with a 193. George Pierre rolled a 222 game and Keg Luck had 213-191. Stan Tantum, Bucky Cupples, George Luck, Bip Davison and Dave Wilbur were all between 200 and 204.

As yet, no one has managed to pull away from the others in the Nassau League. First Aid is the current leader with 22 wins. Trailing in order are Reformers, 20; Bea's Body Shop, 19; Snedeker's Mower, 18, and Tiger Garage, Cifelli Electric and Bear Brook Tavern, all 16.

John Cifelli led in scoring with a 238 game. Jim Shely had 214 and Flavio Buono, 205-210. Others: Mike DiDonato, 212; Rich Pinelli, 205; and George Pierre and Dick Tregler, both 202.

Irene's Nursery has opened an eight-point spread over MacKenzie Realty, 28-20, in the Business Women's League. Jefferson Plumbing is also tied with MacKenzie for second place. Young Ages and Bucci Builders are third, each with 18.

Helen Tamasi enjoyed a torrid evening, rolling 196-184, while Lilliam Burrough had 191. Barbara Gilliland followed with a 185 and Sarah Hunneycutt and Irene Tufano had 174s. Ann Bucci went home happy after rolling a 170, 52 pins over her average.

Joann Shreve converted the 4-7-9 split and a 5-7-9 confrontation was mastered by Pat Fitzpatrick.

DOGWOOD, TULIP TREES, pin oaks, cedars — in fact, a veritable grove — make a peaceful setting for this immaculate Northwest Township home. The pleasant inside consists of a good-sized living room with an interesting stone fireplace and pretty bay window, dining room, enclosed proch, fine kitchen with eating area, two downstairs bedrooms and tiled bath, two upstairs bedrooms (one large, one a magnificent dormitory suite plus bath), a big light, dry cellar with separated space for laundry, play and study. The marvelous second floor makes this house a natural for a family with teenagers. An adjacent stop for all Township school buses and a country feeling combined with enough neighbors for companionship make this a fine spot for children of all ages. K. M. LIGHT REAL ESTATE brokers, 245 Nassau St., Tel. 924-3822.

LET US HELP YOU FIND:
THE BEST HOUSE
IN THE BEST LOCATION
FOR THE VERY BEST VALUE
(WE'VE BEEN DOING IT FOR YEARS)

A MOST DELIGHTFUL WAY TO LIVE. A touch of modern with the pleasant flavor of the Victorian. There's no substitute for large high ceilinged rooms. Old fashioned (and practical) entrance hall, study, living room with fireplace, a dining room really large enough for entertaining with windows overlooking lovely garden, completely modern kitchen, seven bedrooms, several baths. There's more (but why gild a Lily?). One of Princeton's best. $79,500

IS THERE A BASIC KIND OF HOUSE? Would you call a center hall, two story colonial basic? Some of us once thought so. Nowadays they're exceptional! Living room with fireplace, separate dining room, modern kitchen, powder room. Four bedrooms and tile bath on second floor. Full attic with cedar closet and room for kids' projects, full basement, and two-car garage. How often do you see one of these in Princeton for $36,000

NOTHING LEFT TO DO BUT MOVE IN. Four lovely corner bedrooms and a large tile bath on second floor. Entry, living room, powder room, flagstone den with door to terrace. This home has been redecorated from top to bottom very recently. The yard, entirely fenced and private, has been manicured to perfection and has the nicest selection of mature trees in the area. $32,500

THIS IS ONE OF THE NICEST PLANS BUILT IN THE PRINCETON AREA SINCE THE WAR. Princeton Township colonial with traditional plan. Entrance hall, sunken living room with fireplace, formal dining room, den with bookcases, ultra modern kitchen, screened porch, 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths, 2-car garage. $48,500

LOVELY LIVING, INTERESTING INVESTMENT. This house is old and charming; the land consists of 10 plus partially, wooded, subdividable acres; the edge-of-Princeton residential area is an especially fine one. And that about sums up the basic appeal of this newly available property. Pertinent addenda: welcoming entrance hall with fireplace, large living room, family room, formal parlor, dining room, old-fashioned kitchen, laundry, glassed-in porch, 6 bedrooms, 3½ baths, original features (wide floorboards, old glass, pretty mantels, etc.), heavenly trees, perfect privacy, more land available. Sprucing and some modernizing are needed, but who wants an old house that doesn't have anything left to do to it? Please call K. M. LIGHT REAL ESTATE, Brokers, 245 Nassau St., Tel. 924-3822.

COMPANION: Woman wishes a daytime position as nurse companion. Will do light cooking. Experience in nursing home. References. Call 883-3722 after 6 p.m.

TOWN HOUSE . . . here is that rarity so many house-hunters ask about — a beautifully restored old residence within walking distance of everything. Right on Stockton Street, in the Borough, it has wide entrance hall, living room with fireplace, dining room with fireplace, library, maid's room & bath, powder room . . . and a very modern kitchen with lots of cabinets, electric dishwasher, disposal and everything in perfect condition. Upstairs: another living room with fireplace, 4 bedrooms, 2 baths. Third floor: 4 bedrooms, 1 bath. Outdoors: a lovely flagstone terrace in the garden, and many huge old shade trees. This is a Victorian masterpiece, over a century old, which has been modernized and decorated in excellent taste. If you have long been dreaming of someday moving your family into a house so big, and so beautiful, that even grandfather would have been proud to call it home . . . here is a real opportunity. (Sole Agent) $85,000

STORYBOOK HOME . . . large living room with fireplace and cathedral ceiling . . . and a balcony leading to 3 bedrooms, 2 baths. Downstairs: dining room, paneled family room, kitchen, master bedroom and bath. Here is a lovely home that is beautiful to look at, and very comfortable to live in because of its big bedrooms and its many closets. On a wooded lot in the distinguished Braeburn section, close to the Shopping Center and schools, and with many playmates for your children. $53,500

ARMOUR ROAD . . . On almost an acre of beautifully landscaped land in one of Princeton's finest locations, this brick and frame residence offers an unusual opportunity to move into one of our most coveted sections. Designed by a modern architect, the house has foyer, paneled living room with fireplace and French doors leading to a lovely terrace, dining room, kitchen, powder room, den . . . and, for you interested in a retirement home, 2 bedrooms and bath on first floor. Upstairs: 2 more bedrooms and bath. Recreation room downstairs. 2-car attached garage. (Sole Agent) $63,500

ELM RIDGE PARK . . . on a wooded acre-and-a-half in this lovely rural residential neighborhood, here is a two-story brick and frame home with 5 large bedrooms and 2½ baths. Only two years old, the home is in impeccable condition. Foyer, large living room with fireplace, screened porch, separate dining room, very modern kitchen with every convenience, paneled family room, screened porch, 2-car attached garage. Custom built . . . truly an exceptional home. (Sole Agent) $59,500

TREES . . . TREES . . . TREES . . . on almost two acres right in Princeton, here are some of the most beautiful evergreens, oaks, sycamores and other bird sanctuaries that are now growing in a town noted for its lovely trees. The house, a custom-built brick and frame one-story dwelling, has foyer, large living room with a brick fireplace wall, dining room, modern kitchen, master bedroom and bath, 2 other bedrooms and bath, and a small den. Downstairs: large recreation room with fireplace. $69,000

Many fine homes in Princeton and vicinity in every price range.
